Specialist Tells Of Progress Against Heart Attacks

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Now we hold in our hands the possibility of preventing heart attacks," a heart specialist said today.

"Ten years ago, we couldn't attempt to predict who was a candidate for a heart attack," said Dr. Jeremiah Stamler of Chicago.

"Now from a rich accumulation of scientific data, we can point to the major hazzards in our way of life that seem to set the stage.

"The big challenge is to start doing something about this epidemic of heart attacks especially premature attacks among middle-aged men. We can act on the possibility of prevention, even though we do not yet have the certainty of prevention."

Doctor Stamler, speaking to the American Heart Assn.'s Council on Arteriosclerosis, and amplifying in a news conference said "there is no question but that a high level of cholesterol in the blood is one of the risks in the development of obstructive fatty tisues inside arteries, a major cause of heart attacks.

"We cannot yet say that by lowering the blood cholesterol, as through diet and exercise, that we can surely prevent coronary disease. Animal and human studies suggest we can."

Proof, or disproof, of the cholesterol effects are expected to come from human studies such as the Coronary Prevention Evaluation Program in Chicago, the Anti-Coronary Club in New York City, and the National Diet-Heart Study.

These involve hundreds of men who are consuming diets designed to lower blood cholesterol, or who are testing the feasibility of altering the diet of scores of thousands of men for long-term analysis of dietary effects in preventing heart attacks.

Researchers are interested in the relationship of a variety of different fatty materials in the blood, Doctor Stamler said, but "this is mainly a matter of detail. We should not allow physicians or the public to become confused over the general significance of lipids fats in the blood and the risk of premature coronary diseases."

Other risk factors indentified in heart research include diets rich in animal fats and cholesterol, excessive cigarette smoking, diabtes, high blood pressure, tensions, overweight, and physical inactivity, Doctor Stamler said.

"A combination of them can add up to a powerful clout aimed at the arteries and heart," he said. "Doctors should consider them all and treat the whole patient from his point of view."

Building For College Music, Drama Asked

635-Seat Little Theater, TV Studio Would Be Included

A drama and music building that would include a little theater with seating for 635, a television studio and band and choral rehearsal halls was proposed for College of Marin last night.

Wesley Hall of the architectural firm of Falk and Booth, commissioned to list the needs of the proposed drama and music building at the Kentfield campus, estimated space needs at 57,980 square feet.

Original estimates of the faculty in 1960, put the need at 46,000 square feet, but this was cut back to 34,593 square feet by a citizens committee last year. Neither of these proposals, however, included facilities for radio and television.

SPACE SAVING

Trustees called for a study session "as soon as convenient" on Hall's suggestions. One proposal for saving space came from Dr. Stuart Hyde, head of the radio and television department at San Francisco State College. He said the television and large drama workshop could be combined in one room.

Hall, who had estimated 2,500 square feet for the drama classroom and 1,200 square feet for the television studio, liked the idea.

The proposed building would be northeast of and connected to the present art building.

The little theater with all its storage, lighting, dressing room and stage facilities would need 23,760 square feet, Hall estimated. Music facilities including storage rooms, rehearsal halls and teachers' offices would require 12,000 square feet. Drama and speech facilities would need 5,868 square feet and radio and television would take 2,900 square feet. Mechanical, janitorial storage, corridors and wash rooms would add 13,452 more square feet.

STUDY SESSION

In another architectural matter last night, trustees asked for a study session at 4 p.m. next Friday on proposed conversion of a portion of a wood workshop to a photo laboratory.

Crown Development Co. of San Rafael was the lowest of five bidders on the job at $68,900, well under the architect's estimate of $78,394.

But the board delayed awarding contract and called the study session after a discussion on the permanence of the proposed facility. Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy said she did not want to spend that kind of money if the facility would soon be replaced during the college's building program.

There was also some talk of re-establishing the photo laboratory in the library basement. The architects, however, had ruled against this because of the high cost of improving access to meet fire safety laws.

Brown: 'Had To Withhold Ammo To Force Training'

Goerndt's Attorneys To Question

Sausalito City Mgr. Charles A. Brown had to withhold ammunition from the police to force Chief Howard Goerndt to institute firearms training, he testified last night.

Brown was on the stand during the entire second session of a Sausalito Board of Review hearing on Chief Goerndt's ouster, and will undergo cross-examination by Goerndt's attorneys when the hearing resumes Monday at 8 p.m.

CHAMBER PACKED

About 100 people packed the Sausalito City Council chambers for last night's round. A hearing on school unification at the same time at Sausalito's Central School drew only two.

Brown, who fired Goerndt, answered questions by City Atty. Leland H. Jordan, who represents the city manager in the proceedings.

Brown said Goerndt did not comply with repeated requests that regular firearms training be started for the police force. Finally, he said, he refused any further ammunition purchases until Goerndt adopted as mandatory that all officers must fire at the San Rafael police firing range once each month.

FOR AWHILE

That worked, he said, for awhile. Last December, seven out of the nine men in the department did the firing practice, he said, but by July and August this had dropped to four out of 10.

Attorney James B. Leech, who with attorney Harry S. Wainwright represents Goerndt, put in:

"The public should know the Sausalito police are very good shots."

"Yes, they are," said Jordan.

AUDIENCE LAUGHS

"Even in spite of the withholding of ammunition, eh, Mr. Brown?" cracked Wainwright. The audience laughed.

The city manager also went into charges that the police department under Goerndt lacked a good public relations program, that an officer stood duty with alcohol on his breath, and that the police department did not patrol parking regulations.

Brown testified that one police officer, who was unnamed, has had an "alcohol problem" since prior to 1960. He said he called this to Goerndt's atten-

Tito Sets Sail For Home— Cheers, Boos

NEW YORK (AP)—Yugoslavia's President Tito sailed for home today in a mingled atmosphere of well-wishing and anxiety, including a 40-minute delay in the ship's departure because of a bomb scare.

Crowds showed up both to cheer him and hurl taunts.

Police and fire department bomb experts combed the ship, searching staterooms and even farewell bouquets of flowers, after the Coast Guard received a telephone call that a bomb was planted aboard.

None was found, and the ship, the Holland-America liner Rotterdam, pulled out of its pier at 12:40 p.m.

Surrounded by security guards, Tito walked up the gangway while about 200 well-wishers applauded and chanted, "Tito, Tito, Tito."

But a short distance away, held back by police barricades, another group of about 15 pickets held flying balloons painted with signs such as "Tito Pig," "Hang Tito" and "Tito murderer."

Despite the tension around his departure, as well as his stay here, Tito said his visit had been a gratifying one, and that his talks with President John F. Kennedy had been "very useful."

Before going up the gangplank he read a short statement. Of the meetings with Kennedy, he said:

"I am convinced that our talks will contribute to better mutual understanding, that they will have a favorable impact on the relations between our countries in the interest of our peoples, and will further preserve peace and promote peaceful international cooperation."

'STOP EXTORTION'

Reverse Twist On Halloween Asked

A San Rafael woman has a scheme for putting a reverse twist on Halloween "trick or treat" which she believes would put an end to making the holiday "a schooling in extortion."

Mrs. Charles W. Aby of 20 Eye Street today urged that, instead of being sent out to beg treats, children be given treats to leave at other homes.

This, she believes, would accomplish two things:

First, it would remove the element of "extortion" involved in a request for a treat accompanied by a threat of a trick.

Second, it would get the children home sooner, since they would want to get back to see what had been left for them at their own house. ("Something like seeing what is under the tree on Christmas," explained Mrs. Aby.)

"With the little children, the 'trick or treat' is an innocent thing," said Mrs. Aby, "but as they get older, it becomes a form of shakedown. If the whole element of extortion could be done away with, Halloween would be a nicer holiday."

She urged, too, that parents not "turn over the car to teenagers to send them out with eggs to throw" on Halloween. The teeners, too old to "trick or treat," are responsible for most Halloween vandalism, she noted.

"It's too late to do it this year, but it would be a fine thing to organize teen-age boys into patrols to protect the youngsters, giving them something to do besides go out and throw eggs at cars," said Mrs. Aby. "I have suggested to Police Chief (Charles J.) Chiesa that the police juvenile officer might undertake this."

She asked the police chief, too, to join in her plea to parents to deny teen-agers the use of cars to prowl the streets on Halloween.

Chief Chiesa said he would "rather not comment" on the latter suggestion. He called the proposal for a teen-age patrol "a pretty large order."

"We might try to do something about it next year," he said.

The chief protested he will have 18 officers on patrol next Thursday night — three times the usual number. That, he believes, will hold Halloween vandalism to a minimum. Sgt. Lincoln M. Borba will be in charge of the Halloween detail, Chiesa announced.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Aby said she hoped to get her idea "talked up in the schools" between now and next Thursday.

Man Loses Both Hands As Gun Falls

A Forest Knolls contractor lost his right hand and the only two fingers on his left hand yesterday in a freak accident behind his home when his dog knocked over a pile of cement blocks, causing a shotgun to fire.

He was in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Lawrence A. Moulton, 43, of Arroyo Road, was behind his house shooting rats, he told Deputy Sheriff Robert Bertrand. He had leaned the gun against the tottering stack of cement blocks. He told Bertrand he thought the safety was on.

His large dog, Lobo, became excited, as if he smelled rats near the house, and jumped against the pile of blocks. As the bricks started to fall, Moulton jumped back, but the 12-gauge shotgun fired, catching his hands.

Moulton, an ex-officer in the Air Force, had lost three fingers on his left hand while in the service.

His wife, Mary, called the sheriff's office for help at 3:25 p.m., and an ambulance was dispatched.

Seven Of 50 Trapped In Mine Saved

HILDESHEIM, Germany (AP) —Seven miners trapped in a flooded iron mine were rescued tonight. Forty-three others were missing underground and there was scant hope for them.

The seven were reached in a side shaft by a six-inch drill driven from the surface and rescuers worked hard to widen the hole to about 20 inches so a "rescue bomb" could be lowered to them.

The "bomb" is a bell-shaped bucket into which a man can fit.

Seventeen hours after the mass of water broke into the main shaft of the 300-foot-deep mine last night there was no word from another 43.

Report Peace Feelers In Viet Nam War

LONDON (UPI) — Diplomatic sources today said "truce" feelers apparently are being made between the government of South Viet Nam and the communist North Viet Nam regime.

According to the sources, the reported contacts between the two rival regimes were believed aimed at some sort of truce arrangement.

Former Vessels Ruled Under Building Code

Former vessels, now used as dwellings, are not "vessels" and must comply with the county's uniform building code, County Counsel E. Warren McGuire ruled in an opinion released today.

County Sanitation Director William L. Desmond, who asked for McGuire's opinion, said this will affect all houseboats, barges and arks that have been pulled ashore and are being used as dwellings.

Most of them are along the waterfront from Richardson Bay Bridge to Sausalito. "I would say there are about 90 of them, and perhaps three or four are connected to sewer lines," said Desmond.

He announced inspections will have to be made to see that all such houseboats comply with county building laws on sewage pollution, electrical, plumbing and structural safety.

Those that are in violation and are not corrected eventually will be referred to the district attorney's office for prosecution.

Many houseboat owners have contended that their dwellings were vessels, regulated by federal law and thus not under county and state regulations.

Desmond asked for the county counsel's opinion, specifically on the Charles Van Damme, formerly Juanita's Galley, which is being converted into a restaurant. The Van Damme is one of the few that have sewer connections. But Desmond wants to be sure it also complies in other respects, such as structural and fire safety.

"It is my opinion that the use to which the structure in question is being put is a guiding factor in determining its status, and that its form, history and ancestry is not controlling," the county counsel declared in his ruling. "The Van Damme in my opinion constitutes a structure within the definition of the building code."

POINT ARGUELLO (UPI) — A secret satellite — powered toward orbit by the same booster used on the so-called sky spy Samos satellites—was launched today from this Pacific missile range base. The Air Force did not give details on the launch, except to say the satellite employed an Atlas-Agena booster combination.

South Vietnamese Kill 63 Guerrillas

TOKYO (UPI) — South Viet Nam soldiers killed 63 Communist Viet Cong guerrillas yesterday in a surprise attack in Vinh Binh province about 95 miles southwest of Saigon, the official Viet Nam press agency said today.

The agency, monitored in Tokyo, said the Viet Cong are believed to have carried away more dead and wounded guerrillas.

U.C. Gets Grant Of $860,150 For A-Reactor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The University of California has been granted $860,150 by the National Science Foundation to build a nuclear research reactor, Rep. Jeffrey Cohelan (D-Calif.) announced yesterday.

University officials said the entire cost of the Berkeley facility will be about two million dollars. They said that in addition to the National Science Foundation grant the Atomic Energy Commission will contribute $12,775 for fabrication of nuclear fuel.

The university will bear the cost of the remaining expenditures.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

We Pay With Blood, Mrs. Nhu Says

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu said last night the United States had extended more aid to Communist Yugoslavia than had been given to her Southeast Asia country, which was fighting communism.

Mrs. Nhu

We have paid back with 14,000 casualties a year . . . with our blood," she said, while Yugoslavia "has paid back nothing."

The first lady of South Viet Nam said her country wanted to become more independent, but did not want to lose all U.S. aid. Some aid to her country recently was withheld.

"We are not beggars," Mrs. Nhu said. "Your gift is not just a one-way gift. We paid back with blood."

Confessed Spy Tries To Take Life

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI)—Swedish Air Force Col. Stig Wennerstroem, confessed spy for the Soviet Union, lay unconscious today in a Stockholm hospital from an overdose of sedatives.

Wennerstroem

Wennerstroem, former Swedish air attache in Washington, was rushed to the hospital yesterday from his maximum security cell at Stockholm police headquarters. Police said he had apparently taken sleeping pills hidden in his cell.

A hospital communique this morning said Wennerstroem's condition was satisfactory and he is expected to regain consciousness by tomorrow morning. It said he "showed symptoms of a fairly serious poisoning by sedatives" but there seemed to be no danger of serious after-effects.

Governor Seeks State Study Of Teen Marriages

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown, disturbed by the double suicide of a teenage couple this week in Alameda County, called yesterday for a study of teen-age pregnancies and young marriages.

He made the request at a meeting with his advisory committee on children and youth. The committee met to organize for the coming year.

Brown called the deaths of a young Castro Valley High School couple very tragic." The girl was three months pregnant.

"But," said Brown, "I wonder that there are not more."

"I would like you to look into this problem of earlier marriages and child bearing," he told the committee.

Poultrymen's Income For Eggs Hits Low

BERKELEY (UPI)—An agricultural paradox as explained by a University of California economist shows that California hens laid as many eggs as ever last year, cost a little less to feed, but brought poultrymen the second lowest income per hen in seven years.

Dr. Olan D. Forker said farm income per hen totaled $1.03 in 1962 compared with $1.48 in 1961 and $1.97 in 1960. The difference he said was that people paid less for eggs with an average price of 23.7 cents a dozen.

Wheat Shortage Causes Russ To Slaughter Cattle

First Canadian Shipment Arrives With More On Way

MOSCOW (UPI) — The first shipment of Canadian wheat to reach the Soviet Union was on its way to consumers today. There were reports that cattle were being slaughtered in farm areas short of fodder.

The government newspaper Izvestia reported the arrival of the first 21,000 tons of Canadian wheat yesterday and said it had been unloaded in 71 hours instead of the 21 days it normally takes to unload such a shipment.

The wheat is part of the 6.8 million tons bought from Canada for 500 million dollars because of large-scale crop failures in the Soviet Union. Talks are being held for sales of 250 million dollars more from the United States, and Australia already has sold 100 million dollars worth to Russia.

Another 50,000 tons of Canadian wheat was expected in the Black Sea port of Odessa in the next few days.

The effects of the grain shortage were being felt on many farms, according to reports in the Soviet press.

The newspaper Soviet Russia said yesterday that in the Kursk area, about 400 miles south of Moscow, "trucks are lined up at the entrances to the slaughter centers."

"These are from collective farms trying to get rid of cattle," it added. "'We have no fodder for the cattle,' they complain."

The newspaper quoted a collective farmer as having said "we do not have a single potato to feed the pigs."

It said the premature slaughter of the livestock "causes serious apprehension" apparently referring to the possibility of meat shortages later in the year.

PRICE OF BREAD MIGHT BE HIKED

Increase In Wheat Cost Comes At Time Of U.S. Deal To Sell Grain To Russians

CHICAGO (UPI)—Housewives soon may have to pay more for bread.

And in the complicated laws of economics which govern such things, there was disagreement and uncertainty whether the Russian-American wheat talks were responsible.

The Department of Agriculture in Washington said the increase in the price of wheat was not enough to force a hike in the price of bread. Rep. Charles A. Vanik (D-Colo.) predicted bread would rise a penny to a penny and a half a loaf because of speculators taking advantage of a Russian wheat deal.

"We wouldn't hazard a guess," a Minneapolis miller said when asked what would be the effect on the price of bread.

Wheat sold at $1.87 a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade on Aug. 30, about the time talks began in the trade over a Russian-Canadian wheat deal.

On Sept. 13, the Friday before the wheat deal was announced, March wheat sold at $1.95⅜. A week later, the price shot up to $2.05½.

Yesterday in Chicago, March wheat closed at $2.13¾.

Department of Agriculture economists said wheat prices have just about peaked. They said little more increase is expected except for normal carrying charges which usually add about one cent per bushel monthly.

The department spokesman denied the increase in wheat prices could be attributed directly to the U.S. decision to sell grain to the Soviets.

They said the over-all world demand, with imports needed in western Europe as well as in the Red bloc, created a situation in which the prices rose.

Nearly 25 per cent of the interns and resident physicians in American hospitals are graduates of foreign medical schools.

340 Folsom Inmates Talked Out Of Strike

FOLSOM (AP)—Folsom Prison officials managed to persuade 340 of the institution's striking inmates to return to their jobs today, and hope to have all the strikers back at work Monday.

Arthur L. Oliver, prison business manager, said yesterday that some men agreed to stop striking after 18 two-man teams of prison officials talked to each prisoner individually during the day.

Oliver said the individual talks will continue through the weekend at the 2,441-man maximum security institution. Men who refused to work, he said will be kept locked in their cells.

The strike began Monday with a few men refusing to go to work, and had spread to all of the roughly 2,000 working prisoners by Tuesday morning.

It closed the prison cannery, furniture factory, license plate factory and similar enterprises. Only the kitchen, hospital and other services essential for prison comfort kept operating.

Berbers Rejoin Ben Bella In Surprise Algeria Move

ALGIERS (UPI) — President Ahmed Ben Bella's regime was greatly strengthened today in its border conflict with Morocco because of the unexected submission of rebel Berbers in the Kabylia region.

Ben Bella announced in a radio broadcast yesterday that Col. Mohand Ou El Hadj, military leader of the Kabylia rebels, had rejoined the Algerian army and was on his way to the front to help fight the Moroccans.

(Hopes for the peaceful settlement of the fighting between Algeria and Morocco rose with a report from Tunis that Ben Bella and Moroccan King Hassan II would meet soon in Libya to discuss their differences.

(The report was attributed to the press officer of Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie, who has been conferring with Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba on the North African crisis.)

There was new fighting yesterday around the tiny border outpost of Hassi Beida, in the Sahara Desert about 700 miles southwest of Algiers. Both sides claimed to hold the oasis.

Informed sources said Ben Bella and rebel political leader Hocine Ait Ahmed may soon be reconciled, further strengthening the Algerian position.

Ben Bella has promised to release some key political prisoners, including former Minister of State Mohammed Boudiaf, in exchange for the rebels' allegiance, according to informed sources.

Bret Harte Drainage Fears Rise

Bret Harte property owners are keeping one eye on the calendar and the other on the sky. The $28,000 cooperative drainage project for the industrial area is not yet finished, but the rainy season is already here.

"We're not behind schedule; we just got started late," said Paul Ciampi, one of the property owners who took the lead on the city-owned project.

Work by Northwestern Pacific Railroad on the trestle that will provide an exit of flood waters is underway and should be completed in about 10 days, he said.

The second of three pumps at the Francisco Boulevard pumping station is to be installed next week, but the third pump will not be delivered until Dec. 15, Ciampi said.

Two San Rafael Men Arrested

Two San Rafael men were arrested last night on an indictment returned by the Marin County Grand Jury charging they committed lewd acts with small boys.

Charged with sex perversion and held in jail on $5,500 bail were Leonard Michael Cohen, 31, a truck driver instructor, and Eric Conrad Franzen, 23, a mechanic. Both live at 58 Clark Street.

The two men, according to San Rafael police, took two six and seventh grade boys to their residence and committed lewd acts and exhibited lewd pictures.

Two 14-year-old San Anselmo boys, according to San Anselmo police, pedaled their bicycles to the men's residence or were picked up in their 1963 car.

Police said the men's activities extended back to at least April.

Car Driven Away, Found Hour Later

The autombile of Harold S. Elberg was mysteriously driven away from his home last night, but reported found by a friend an hour later, the sheriff's office reported today.

Elberg's son, Gregg, phoned the sheriff's office to say the car, a red 1962 Chevrolet, had been stolen from the garage of the Elberg residence, 1170 Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow. He said he heard a car drive off about an hour earlier, at 8:10 p.m. The keys had been left in the car.

Boys Admit Daylight Greenbrae Burglary

The case of the stolen safe was virtually solved before it was reported in Greenbrae Tuesday.

Fire clay used between safe walls was found on tools in the possession of four teen-age Mill Valley boys arrested on suspicion of burglary.

"We knew they had a safe and we were just waiting for someone to report a safe missing," said Juvenile Officer Harvey Teague of the Marin County sheriff's office.

The boys, ranging in age from 15 to 17, have admitted the daylight burglary of approximately $900 in jewelry and clothing from the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Albert Philes Sr. at 8 Via La Cumbre, Greenbrae, Teague said.

The jewelry was contained in a 300-pound safe, about 30-by-14-by-30 inches, which was lugged across a backyard patio, around a swimming pool, and over a back fence.

Teague and Juvenile Officer William Johansen were searching the West Marin area today trying to locate the spot where the boys said they threw the safe over a cliff.

Larkspur Police Chief said most of the loot was recovered, but that the boys tossed some of the jewelry out of their car.

Deputy Sheriff John O. Goff arrested the boys at Muir Beach Tuesday after he found a sharpened piece of metal and other weapons in their car. They were charged with possession of concealed weapons, possession of stolen goods, possession of alcohol, and suspicion of burglary.

The youths have been connected with four burglaries, Teague said.

Some of the items found in their car Tuesday were similar to those stolen the same day from the home of Lawson Brainard at 288 Cleveland Road, near Mill Valley.

Water District To Pay $16,750 For Tank Land

The North Marin Water District will pay the Beverly-Maple Corp. $16,750 for land taken for a five million gallon tank on a hill overlooking the Beverly Knolls and Forest Park subdivisions of Novato, Judge Leonard Thomas ruled yesterday.

The district had offered $3,575 for the 1.43 acres. The owners had asked $135,000. The settlement came after seven days of trial in a condemnation suit. The judge dismissed the jury which had been listening to the case and made a ruling from the bench in Marin County Superior Court.

The tank, at the end of Merrit Drive, was completed May 25 by the Chicago Bridge and Iron Co., Chicago, for $223,025. Beverly-Mapel had asked $55,000 for the land and claimed $75,000 damage to the remaining land and $5,000 for damage caused by trespassers during the tank construction.

Transit District Saves $75 Million By Using Freeway

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) District trains will run on a three and one-half-mile stretch of the new Grove-Shafter Freeway in Oakland at a savings of 75 million dollars.

Raymond O'Neil, chief location engineer for BART, said yesterday an agreement with the State Division of Highways provides for joint construction and use of the route.

O'Neil said if the district had to obtain its own right-of-way and build its own structure the cost would have been 75 million dollars more than the 33 million dollars estimated for the job.

The route runs between 24th Street and Golden Gate Avenue in Oakland.

The transit district will pay the state $240,000 for the redesign of the original freeway plans, which did not provide for the dual-track BART system.

Stolen Car Found

A stolen car, belonging to Arthur C. Speidel of El Cerrito, was found by San Rafael Police Officer Phillip Green last night at 9 o'clock parked in front of 105 West End Avenue, San Rafael.

Brand New Car Driven Into Bay Honking, Radio On

Sausalito police were puzzled today as to who drove a grand new purple Rambler off Brideway and into the bay just before last midnight and disappeared leaving the horn honking and radio playing.

Officer Ben Barrnett said an unidentified citizen reported at 11:50 p.m. that a car was in the bay off Bridgeway Boulevard just "south of the Seal and north of Tiffany Beach."

Barret found the 1964 two-door Rambler, totally wrecked, siting upright on the rocks near the seawall. The horn was blowing, radio playing.

The car, owned by Barrett Airways U-Drive in San Francisco, had been rented yesterday by George L. Willis, manager of the Canterbury Hotel in San Francisco. Willis said he left the car outside the hotel with the keys in the ignition at 9:30 p.m.

Stinson Might Get Fire Horn

Stinson Beach may do away with its fire siren and adopt the horn type alarm system.

Fire Chief William Sherfey has recommended that the siren, on a tower at the entrance to Stinson Beach State Park, be replaced with two horns at two new locations. Sherfey said sound of the siren does not carry to portions of hill and beach areas.

Roy Gillman was appointed by the Stinson Beach Fire Prevention District commission to investigate a new fire alarm system.

Commissioners also agreed that Bolinas School should be covered by the commission's ambulance corps inasmuch as the ambulance was called recently to the school when a pupil was injured at play. The school is outside the fire protection district.

The board ordered that a letter be sent Kent Estates Co. notifying the firm it must keep the Seadrift gate open when there is a fire at Seadrift, reported Mrs. Harriet M. Greene, assistant secretary. Last Sunday the gate was opened to allow the fire truck to pass but closed before firemen who responded in their own cars could get through, she said.

Mrs. Greene reported the district is installing an emergency telephone on the outside of the firehouse to be tied into emergency telephones at homes of volunteers W. E. Shuit, Roy Gillman and R. B. Putnam, and at the Chevron Service Station.

Bad Check Suspect Ordered To Trial

Betty Martinez, 28, of San Francisco, waived preliminary hearing yesterday on two charges of passing bad checks, and Judge Harold J. Haley immediately held her to answer to the charges in Marin County Superior Court.

She was arrested Saturday by Novato police, charged with passing more than $50 in worthless checks to Novato merchants.

GOERNDT

tion and asked that the officer not have alcohol on his breath while on duty. Goerndt issued a memorandum to his officers on the subject but took no disciplinary action, Brown said.

Brown said he frequently did police jobs such as placing the "lot full" sign on Parking Lot No. 3, and that he taught officers how to operate parking lot gates. "I spent altogether too much of my time," he said, directing parking lot enforcement.

He said the five city councilmen in 1960 and 1961 brought information to him which Brown considered criticism of the police department. (All five councilmen were present at last night's meeting.)

"The most important part of city government is to have effective and good public relations," Brown said, adding he has received great criticism of public relations in the police department. He said he wanted a program to indoctrinate all policemen.

"There is a memorandum that tells the officers how to smile," said Leech. "Why don't you read that?"

Brown testified that, after "continuous badgering" on his part, there were some improvements in the department in 1961 and 1962.

He said it had to be brought to city council attention at a meeting that people were using the same tickets over and over in the parking lot.

Brown also said he had to send Goerndt a memorandum to tell him to get dents and scratches on one police car repaired. He said he asked that police vehicles be hosed off daily in the summer, but this was done only infrequently.

Goerndt often called a member of the street department "out of bed" to remove a dead animal from the street when a police officer might have handled it, the city manager continued.

Brown said he brought to Goerndt's attention that reports had been made officers were accepting gratuities from downtown restaurants. He asked Goerndt for a firm policy, Brown said, and Goerndt said it was already in departmental rules.

Leech asked the restaurants be identified, but Robert M. Gunn, board of review chairman, said he did not think this was necessary.

At the outset of the meeting the board denied Leech's and Wainright's request for access to personal files of all police officers now employed with the city, but said it might entertain the request again later.

Leech claimed "the entire police force is on trial here" and added, "We would like to know Mr. Brown's opinion of each of the officers."

Smoke in the council chambers became so thick that Gunn finally imposed a "no smoking" rule. At one point Wainwright asked Brown to "move around a little so I can see you. I haven't been able to see you through the smoke since recess."

Gunn objected to the Monday night hearing, saying no Monday meeting was set up in pre-trial conference. However, Jordan said he had about an hour more of questioning of Brown before cross-examination can start.

After the hearing, Leech said he would call five Marin police chiefs to testify on behalf of Goerndt next week. "They will be asked to speak on the practical side of being a police chief," he said.

Atoms-For-Peace Award Given Russ, U.S. Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Russian physicist and the director of the University of California's Lawrence Radiation Laboratory shared the spotlight last night as joint recipients of the $75,000 Atoms-for-Peace award.

They were given the award at a ceremony in conjunction with the 100th anniversary meeting of the National Academy of Sciences.

Dr. Edwin M. McMillan of Berkeley and Vladimir Veksler of Moscow won the award jointly for findings made thousands of miles apart 18 years ago.

Their discoveries led to the synchrotron, an atom-smashing machine whose use greatly increased the knowledge of the nature of matter.

Despite a slow building pace in Marin during September, this year continued as a better building year than 1962—28.7 per cent better.

Total value of building permits taken out in Marin cities and the county totaled $5,536,913 for September. This was 17.7 per cent below the September, 1962 total of $6,732,667, according to records compiled by the Marin County Development Assn.

The September figure gave a nine-month accumulative total for 1963 of $69,744,119. The cummulative total at the same time last year was $54,187,699.

San Rafael led the September construction pace with a total permit valuation of $1,846,796. Novato was second with $1,078,050 and Fairfax third with $495,711.

Symphony Guild Launches 12th Season With Drive

The Symphony Guild of Marin launched its 12th season this week with a membership drive and establishment of headquarters in San Rafael.

The symphony guild was founded 12 years ago by a group of Marin musicians. Funds to make possible musical opportunities for both young and adult performers are provided by memberships.

Best known of the guild-supported groups is the Marin Symphony Orchestra under musical directorship of Sandor Salgo. This orchestra performs three concerts each season, two at Marin Catholic High School and one at Novato High School.

Young people are trained both at the intermediate level in the workshop for strings under Robert L. Jacobson and at an advanced level in the Marin Youth Orchestra under Hugo Rinaldi.

The guild also sponsors Music for Minors, a series of three programs in February at San Rafael High School.

The membership drive under co-chairmen Mrs. Charles P. Davies of Novato and Mrs. Wolfgang Zimmerman of San Rafael has its headquarters in the Marin Piano and Organ Co. at 884 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Memberships may be obtained at the headquarters or from members of the drive committee in each community.

DILEMMA FOR WEATHERMAN

Rosemary Holtzer stands next to an outdoor telephone on the Mall in downtown Kalamazoo, Mich., where temperatures went above the 80-degree mark during the last few days and residents were referring to the weather as "Indian Simmer" (not summer). It is the exact spot shown in photo, right, where five inches of snow came down each day on Oct. 25 and 26 of last year. (AP Wirephotos)

SURVIVES HURRICANE

Powerless Ship Safe After Ordeal At Sea

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — Bone-tired and red-eyed, the 10-man riding crew of the decommissioned destroyer escort Fogg told today how they rolled 50 degrees in 40-foot seas in the hurricane whipped Atlantic.

"Sleep was something we didn't get too much of," CWO Walter F. Ganey, 39, of Norfolk, told newsmen after a joyous reunion on a pier with his wife and three children.

The Fogg arrived at 2 a.m. in tow of the Navy tug Kiowa. The Coast Guard cutter Chilula took the powerless Fogg in tow off the North Carolina coast Tuesday morning, 60 hours after a line parted as the Fogg was being towed by a Navy tug from Portsmouth to Orange, Tex., to join the reserve fleet. The Kiowa took over the tow job from the Chilula near Cape Henry, Va., yesterday.

"Our radio went out Friday night," Ganey said. "We lost our generator Saturday night. Flashlights and battle lanterns were the only lights we had.

"We had no hot meals from Saturday night until Wednesday morning. We ate cereal and peanut butter sandwiches. We had plenty of uncooked food but it was too rough to cook on our gas camp stoves.

"The ship rolled as much as 50 degrees. The worst weather was Monday night, when the wind was 60 to 75 miles an hour and the swells were about 40 feet.

"We didn't go out on deck after Sunday morning. It was blowing too hard.

"The only time I was concerned was when the tow line parted Saturday night about 11 o'clock. As we rode it out our confidence grew and we never doubted we'd come out of it. A couple of the new fellows got seasick. There were no injuries."

Ganey, who has been in the Navy 20 years, said he had been at sea in four previous hurricanes and that hurricane Ginny was not the worst he had encountered.

Proprietor Suffers Too

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — For suffering a broken toe in a cafe, Mrs. Grace M. Welcome won an award of $1,250 from a jury. The jury threw in $45 additional for medical expenses.

Mrs. Welcome testified she was an innocent by-sitter when two men in another booth became embroiled in an argument.

During a scuffle, while one of the quarrelsome patrons was being ejected, she said, she was knocked down and one toe broken. She sued the proprietor of the cafe.

New Negro Group Urges Racial Pride

OAKLAND (AP)—An Oakland-based organization which claims to be the fastest growing Negro movement in the nation is bidding to add another voice to America's debate on discrimination and Negro civil rights.

To Donald Warden, Oakland attorney and head of the Afro-American Assn., integration is neither good nor evil.

"It is simply irrelevant."

The real problem, Warden says, is the Negro's lack of racial pride and understanding of Negro history and traditions."

His advice to his fellow Negroes is blunt:

"Throw away your bleaching creams. Throw away your hair straighteners. Quit dropping out of school. Quit flunking. Get off of welfare.

"If you won't accept the challenge to improve yourself, then admit that you are inferior."

The Afro-American Assn. was founded a year and a half ago, and now claims 5,000 members. Last night the organization was the subject of a five-minute feature on a nationwide television newscast.

After the broadcast, the 27-year-old attorney predicted that national exposure will accelerate the already rapid growth of his group.

At present, he said, most of his followers are concentrated in the San Francisco Bay area where the Afro-American Assn. sponsors a weekly radio program.

Islanders Leave Modern World For Atlantic Home

SOUTHAMPTON, England, (UPI)—A ship headed back into time today with 198 men, women and children who left 20th Century comforts to return to their primitive existence on a volcanic island in the South Atlantic.

The Danish liner Bornholm sailed last night on a 17-day, 8,000-mile voyage to the lonely Island of Tristan de Cunha, which was abandoned by its entire population more than two years ago when its volcano erupted. The islanders settled in England.

But Britain's weather, the world of bright lights, television and the frantic gyrations of the "Twist" made many of the islanders long for their homeland.

A slender-winged, feather-light plane has been flown more than a half-mile at 19 miles an hour. Its sole "engine" was a husky young man whose furious pedaling spun a propeller.

Casals Has Day At United Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —It was Pablo Casals Day at the United Nations.

They packed the blue and gold Assembly Hall yesterday to hear the 87-year-old world-renowned cellist conduct his own oratorio, El Pesiebre (The Manger). At the end, he received a standing ovation.

They provided him with a leather stool, but he was on his feet most of the time, conducting with vigor the Casals Festival Orchestra of Puerto Rico. The oratorio was sung by the Cleveland Orchestra Chorus under the leadership of Robert Shaw.

Governor Turns Down Slayer's Clemency Plea

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown has turned down a clemency plea by condemned killer Lawrence Akin Jackson, 26, thus setting the stage for his execution next Wednesday in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber.

Brown's denial came yesterday just hours after U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas refused a stay of execution after consulting with other members of the court. (See story, page 40).

Jackson was convicted in 1962 for the 1961 murder of Doris Ann Keyes, 51, of Los Angeles. The murder took place in a lonely canyon in Riverside County.

The governor said in a statement that he was "unable to find sufficient mitigating evidence to justify a commutation."

The murder was committed four days after Jackson was paroled from a California prison where he had been sent for assault with intent to do bodily harm.

Petty Theft Charge Nets Man 30 Days

William Frank French, arrested in Venice and charged with using a stolen credit card in Marin County, yesterday pleaded guilty to a lesser offense of petty theft.

Judge Harold J. Haley in Marin Municipal Court ordered French, 30, to serve 30 days in Marin County Jail and to make restitution of $103.10 within a year. He was arrested Oct. 17 following a similar conviction in San Diego.

PLACARD HITS STEVENSON — Adlai Stevenson (back to camera) U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, was struck on the head last night in Dallas, Tex. after he delivered an address in the municipal auditorium. Mrs. Cora Fredrickson (left) was carrying the sign, but she said someone pushed it out of her hands. (AP Wirephoto)

Stevenson Is Booed, Sign Strikes Him After Dallas Talk

Woman Says She Didn't Deliberately Hit Envoy

COMBINED AP & UPI

DALLAS—Mrs. Cora Fredrickson said today she did not deliberately strike U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Adlai Stevenson with an anti-U.N. sign. She said someone in the crowd pushed the sign.

Stevenson was struck with a sign stating "get the U.N. out of the U.S." after he made a speech last night celebrating United Nations Day in Dallas.

Police led Mrs. Fredrickson out of the crowd after the incident. She was not arrested.

The crowd gathered around Stevenson after he left Memorial Auditorium. He was cursed, booed and spat upon.

Dallas attorney Murray Schueth, who was talking with Stevenson when the sign crashed down on them, said, "I was hit on the head. It hit Stevenson on the forehead, just missing his eye. Stevenson fell back about two feet and looked like he was going to fall, but recovered."

"The look on his face was burned into my mind. He had the most agonized look. His eyes got huge, his mouth fell open, he was completely startled," Schueth said.

Schueth said a "young man about 25 or so, a collegiate type, clean cut" started trying to strike Stevenson.

"Someone must have pushed the sign down on him (Stevenson)," Mrs. Fredrickson said. "There were a bunch of colored people standing around in back of me, but I couldn't say who pushed the sign. I just know I didn't do it."

She said that the near-riot was started by pro-U.N. people. "Some of the things they said were awful. They called us Reds and Communist and un-Christian."

"You know how things happen all of a sudden?" Mrs. Fredrickson, 47, wife of an insurance man, said. "Somebody told me that a group of colored people wanted to start something."

Mrs. Fredrickson said she was not a "joiner" and did not belong to the John Birch Society or any other groups.

She said she was a first cousin of Rep. Lindley Beckworth (D-Tex.) but that she was not a member of a political party.

"I vote democratic all my life and worked for Lyndon Johnson in 1948. In 1952, I voted for Stevenson, but since then things have changed so much," Mrs. Fredrickson said.

"I just don't understand. They rolled out the red carpet for Ben Bella and Tito when they were here. There are a lot of people like me who just don't understand that. They call us radical rights, and we just don't understand that. We are patriots."

Pickets appeared outside the auditorium before Stevenson arrived, and some crowded indoors. They carried placards and American flags. One wore an Uncle Sam suit.

As Stevenson spoke, he was interrupted by a front row spectator, identified as Frank McGehee of Dallas, an organizer of the ultraconservative National Indignation Convention.

McGehee asked several questions, including one about Stevenson's beliefs. There was deafening applause after the ambassador answered: "For my part I believe in the forgiveness of sin and the redemption of ignorance."

Another man tried to push McGehee down in his seat and the two argued. Police conducted McGehee to the lobby, where an overflow crowd of several hundred people heard and watched Stevenson on television.

In his formal address, Stevenson spoke of "superpatriots who decry the United Nations" and said they are men "who talk of peace but who object to our only institution for peaceful settlement."

Braverman Quits Hub Chamber Post

Sidney Braverman resigned from the board of directors of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce yesterday, citing the press of business as his reason.

He recommended that his son-in-law, Abe Froman, associated with him in Braverman Home Furnishings, be appointed to fill out his year.

Braverman was one of the nine charter members on the chamber board in 1944. Fellow directors accepted his resignation with reluctance and regret.

Four other directors whose terms expire at the end of this year announced they will not seek re-election. They are Edward Gates, Jack Phillips, A. N. Nipper and Harry A. Orrick. All but Orrick have served as president.

Directors voted to postpone the annual dinner from Jan. 16 to Jan. 23 due to a conflict with a Redwood Empire Assn. meeting.

Crash Fatal To Miller Laid To Faulty Piloting

The airplane crash that killed Rep. Clem Miller (D-Corte Madera) a year ago was attributed yesterday to faulty piloting.

The Civil Aeronautics Board, in a report on its investigations, blamed the accident on failure of the pilot to determine his position properly and improper flight preparation.

Miller was a passenger in the twin-engine Piper Apache being piloted by George Head, 41, of San Rafael. Head and his son, Ronald, who lived at 304 D Street, also died in the crash.

Head had served in the Air Force as a jet pilot before retiring after 20 years service.

The plane disappeared Oct. 7 in rugged hillside country northeast of Eureka.

The board said failure of the pilot to determine his position properly resulted in a let-down in adverse weather conditions to an altitude below that of surrounding hills.

Miller, 45, father of five daughters, had flown to the First Congressional District for a weekend of campaigning for a third term. His name was left on the ballot and he subsequently won the election.

Marin Model Session Marks United Nations Charter Day

Marin marked the 18th United Nations Charter Day last night by staging the first of four model U.N. General Assembly sessions in the Redwood High School library, Larkspur.

"One year ago we were on the brink of an atomic war over Cua," declared Dr. Surjit Singh, model U.N. secretary-general to about 150 delegates and spectators. "Today we meet in a relatively peaceful atmosphere."

Singh, professor of philosophy at San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo, said it was through the offices of secretary-general that "a sensitive understanding developed between the two great powers to help end the crisis and lead to the present nuclear test ban treaty."

"The test ban did not—regrettably — emanate from the United Nations," he said. "But it is welcomed . . . it shows us that as steps are taken toward world peace a larger role must be taken by the U.N.

"Problems contiune. The nuclear agreement was a limited achievement reached by mutual selfishness—but it is a start, a window that can become a door leading to a corridor of understanding."

John G. Donhoff of the United States delegation and Homestead Valley echoed that hope, as chairman of the political and security committee, saying the greatest good the assembly could work for was weapons control." He said the United Nations "must press disarmament to the forefront in this time of the not-so exclusive nuclear club."

"The next step after the test ban," he said, "is to work against the arms race. And the best forum for that is the United Nations. Let us put it to use."

Delegate from Tanganyika John Brewer of Terra Linda took polite issue with Singh and Donhoff.

"I must confess to a concern about this 'atmosphere of peace'," he said. "How can we have a semblance of peace among nations but not peace among men?

"How can we have peace with people against people? Rich against poor? Race against race? . . We are in grave peril if we cannot learn to sit down together and work out our problems—now."

There was some trouble from the Communist bloc at the beginning of the session when Yugoslavian delegate Virginia Radenzel of Homestead Valley protested the seating of Formosa (Nationalist China) as "not representing the 583 million people of the great nation of China."

Delegates of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics pounded on the table with great approval.

Superior Court Judge Richard M. Sims Jr., president of the U.N. (and from the country of "Grossdark"), appointed a committee of nine nations to look into the credentials of Nationalist China, "to report back sometime around Christmas."

The model United Nations will meet again at the same place next Thursday at 8 p.m. and on Nov. 7 and 14, sponsored by the Marin Chapter of the American Assn. for the United Nations. Gordon P. Gipson of Ross is chairman.

San Rafael Joe's Opens Sunday To Benefit Italian Flood Orphans

Sunday will be a big day at San Rafael Joe's.

That's a day the restaurant is ordinarily closed, but this is a special occasion and the opening is for a good cause. Everything goes toward youngsters orphaned by the recent flood in the Piave River Valley, Italy, that resulted from the slide at the Vaiont Dam.

All the proceeds of the day will be turned over to the orphans—and that means gross proceeds (not net). Employees are donating their time, San Rafael merchants are participating by donating prizes. There will be all kinds of entertainment—organ, piano, accordion and singing, and I heard something about the Gold Street girls from San Francisco being there.

Money will be turned over to Al Nieri of the Bank of Marin and its distribution will probably be arranged through the Italian consul in San Francisco and the bishop of Belluno, Italy.

Joe's will open at 11 a.m., with dinner starting at 2 p.m. Special menu that day will feature a complete Joe's steak dinner.

IF YOU'VE BEEN to Tiburon during the last few days, you may have noticed a change. There's a new sign on Main Street—Tiburon Tommie's Mai Tai. Tommie Cox and Johnny Won are still the owners, but they decided to drop the Pier 41 in favor of Tommie's reputation for Mai Tai drinks. They are known from here to Zamboanga.

CHAMPAGNE TOURS to Tiburon on Thursday nights from Fisherman's Wharf, San Francisco, continue to bring in substantial passenger lists. We understand it's planned to continue the cruises until they drop below 100 passengers on two successive trips. When that happens you'll really know winter has set in.

AFTER BEING CLOSED for about a month, Alioto's Arbordale in Sausalito opens again today. The hof brau idea is no more at this spot. Instead, Peter and Tanya Alioto will feature regular table service and a wide choice of dishes on a Continental-type menu. The lounge will have piano bar entertainment.

DON LEVINE of Sausalito, who proposes to put up a 100-unit motel and restaurant at Waldo Point, says he is definitely going after the convention business. Messrs. Zelinsky and Britt have the same idea in mind for the 79-unit Tiburon Inn in Tiburon.

We hope they get it, but it will take a 200-unit hostelry with meeting facilities for about 1,000 people and restaurant accommodations to match, to break into the convention business in any substantial way.

Any number of conventions have had to be turned down (most of them with more than 200 delegates) just because there's nothing suitable in the county to house them. Way it looks now, it's not likely there will be before 1965.

SOMETIME when you're at Sabella's on a Friday noon, poke your nose in the Captain's Room for a moment—and meet the "Dodos."

This is a group of six retired gentlemen who meet there every Friday for drinks, lunch and an afternoon of bridge—Fred Palmer, Reno Sbarboro, Dr. Hubert Law, Lex Cochrane, James Madison and L. P. Garat. They've been doing the same thing for about two years. Their wives don't seem to mind, for they always come home with fresh fish for dinner.

And that's something that probably wouldn't happen if they went out in a boat with a hook and line.

Sabella's has a new organist for the Pirates' Den cocktail lounge. She is Martha Stirm, formerly at the Canterbury and Sir Francis Drake Hotels in San Francisco. Martha has also been official organist on cruises aboard the President Wilson and President Cleveland.

IT'S TRUE — Gregory Seubert of Corte Madera does plan to open in the Paradise Shopping Center where plenty of business activity seems to be taking place. But his restaurant probably won't be open until sometime in December.

It will be known simply as Gregory's Restaurant, serving German and American food, and I know Gregory has some definite ideas on how it should be prepared. His wife Mary Alice will help him in the operation. They'll serve both lunch and dinner at the outset, probably keep open six days a week.

NICELY CONDUCTED is Di Pietro's cocktail lounge at 1 Vivian Way (off Francisco Boulevard), San Rafael. No food, but music and dancing on weekends. Open from 4 p.m. to 2 a.m. seven days a week.

IT'S AN EIGHT-POUND baby boy for Raymond and Eugenie Coscarat of Le Chalet Restaurant in Santa Venetia, born Wednesday night. His name will be John Raymond.

Marin Girl, Youth At College Of Idaho

Hamish Tyler, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tyler of San Geronimo, is a freshman at the college.

Suspect Held On Prescription

Herman Baldizan Montoya, 30, of Petaluma, was held to answer yesterday in Marin County Superior Court on charges of receiving stolen goods (a prescription blank) and of trying to obtain drugs with a phony prescription.

Judge Harold J. Haley of the Marin Municipal Court ordered Montoya to appear before Judge N. Charles Brusatori in superior court Monday following a preliminary hearing yesterday.

Montoya was arrested Oct. 5 by Corte Madera police.

Resident Hall Plan Outlined For Trustees

An outline of requirements for proposed resident halls at College of Marin with a total capacity for 50 men and 50 women was presented to college trustees last night.

With only three trustees present (Trustees Kent O. Seymour and Robert E. Oliver were absent), the board referred the outline to a committee of the San Rafael Rotary Club which proposed formation of a non-profit corporation to build the halls near the Kentfield campus.

The outline, prepared by Dean of Students Irwin P. Diamond and others, listed a total of 50 rooms with two students per room. There would be 25 rooms for men and 25 for women.

The outline also called for parking space for 75 cars, an outdoor recreation area for volleyball and basketball, an indoor recreation room, a lounge for reading and study, and seminar rooms for discussion groups.

Only point debated last night was whether the halls should have kitchen and dining facilities. This trustees agreed to discuss further at a later meeting.

In related action last night, the board authorized College President Stephen E. Epler to investigate the possibility of purchasing a 200-by-200-foot lot on Hillside Avenue close to the two acres the district has already reserved for residence halls.

The Marin Junior College District board also:

1. Asked Epler to investigate any possibility of making the northern boundary of the college district contiguous with the northern county line. A portion of North Marin is in the Sonoma Junior College District, but Epler said last night he has heard the Sonoma District wants to pull back to the county line.

2. Agreed to hold only one meeting a month instead of two during November and December, due to holidays. The meetings will be Nov. 14 and Dec. 12.

3. Approved sabbatical leave requests for next school year for science teacher Stephen Bruff, Spanish teacher George Duncan III, and English and mathematics teacher William Howe.

Red Talk On College Campus 'Step Away From Freedom'

Rodger F. Morse of 109 Fawn Drive, Sleepy Hollow, a former mayor of Corte Madera, appeared before Marin Junior College District trustees last night with a three-page statement protesting the speaking appearance of a Communist on the campus.

Albert J. Lima, Northern California district chairman of the Communist Party, spoke on the campus Oct. 8 at invitation of the Mariner Discussion Committee, a student organization.

Morse said the invitation for a Communist to speak on a campus is usually justified in the name of free speech. "I believe that to invite the Communist on campus is a step toward destruction of these very freedoms that we would uphold," Morse said.

"The idea that the truth about the Communist will be forthcoming from the Communist speaker in whatever posture is best suited to the Communist cause at the time."

Morse urged trustees to adopt a policy denying the Communist "a role in our educational activities."

Board Chairman Robert E. Rogers said the faculty is making a policy study on speaker invitations. Rogers also said he and fellow trustees stated two weeks ago they favored having a Communist speak on campus rather than in some private hall where the college had no control.

Morse, who appeared as an individual, served on the Corte Madera Town Council from 1956 to 1961. He was Marin County campaign manager for Fred G. Dupuis, Republican candidate for Congress in 1959.

Naval Reserve Unit Commander Named

Cmdr. Lester J. Wade of 16 Bretano Way, Greenbrae, has been named commanding officer of a new Naval Reserve unit established at Treasure Island. It is called the Naval Control of Shipping Organization, Division 12-2.

Wade recently returned from training with the commander of U.S. naval forces at Yokosuka, Japan.

Three Drunken Drivers Sentenced

One man was sentenced to serve two weekends in Marin County Jail for drunken driving, and two others were fined $166 Wednesday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson in Marin Municipal Court. All pleaded guilty.

Thomas C. Austin, 36, of 2 Foothill Road, San Anselmo, who had been on probation for another offence, was sentenced to jail. He was arrested Tuesday by San Anselmo police on Redhill Avenue. He was also fined $166 as a condition of a new probation period.

Daniel Grant Ruffner, 46, of San Quentin, arrested by the sheriff's office Monday on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Greenbrae, and Albert Louis Perry, 50, of 1147 Cambridge Street, Novato, arrested by San Rafael police on Fourth Street Tuesday, were put on probation in addition to the fines.

Terra Linda CSD Wants Survey On Drainage

Terra Linda Community Services District directors, annoyed about overflowing catch basins and muddy streets, decided Wednesday night to ask the county for a survey of the entire drainage system.

"We'd like to determine whether the system just needs periodic cleaning or whether it is inadequate to handle the storm water flow," said secretary-manager Annette Bode.

The most serious area is on Orange Blossom Lane, where catch basins overflowed during the last rain. District directors will ask the county to determine the cost of cleaning out the drains on Orange Blossom Lane. They authorized payment of up to $200 for the job.

Directors will ask a representative of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to attend the Nov. 12 meeting to discuss possibilities of lower residential rates for gas and electricity.

Peninsula Commuters Use Another Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 170 Peninsula Southern Pacific commuters were able to ride the Vasona branch line between Los Altos and Palo Alto this morning, thanks to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The ICC yesterday ordered the railroad to keep up the service, which S.P. had scheduled for abandonment today. The agency said a petition had been filed for rehearing of its earlier order allowing closing of the line.

Lucas Valley Telephone Rates Will Be Dropping

In about two months, telephone rates for Lucas Valley homes should be dropping to the Marinwood level, members of the Lucas Valley Homeowners Assn. learned last night.

A letter from the State Public Utilities Commission reports Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. plans to bring Lucas Valley rates down to the level of Marinwood and San Rafael, secretary Edris Cole reported.

Ron Marinoff, chairman of a committee to study the cost of maintaining the Lucas Valley Community Center, announced maintenance cost for the first year will total about $18,000 or about $84 per year per member. This includes maintaining the swimming pool, the community center and grounds, and the television-FM system.

Mrs. Cole reported by-laws and articles of incorporation for the associaition were accepted last night. The homeowners association, headed by president Bruce Flanagan, was formed three months ago.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Nov. 14, at the community center at Mount Shasta and Idylberry drives.

The group set election of a board of directors for Dec. 19. Candidates will speak at the Nov. 14 meeting.

Actress' Furs, Jewelry Stolen

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police today were seeking jewelry and furs valued at $15,000 taken from actress Terry Moore.

Miss Moore reported that her suitcase containing the jewelry and furs disappeared from the lobby of the Fairmont Hotel after she checked in Wednesday night to attend a campaign dinner for mayoral candidate Harold Dobbs.

She said the suitcase contained a sable scarf, a mink sweater, a $2,200 gold purse with diamond clasp, a $2,500 pearl-bedecked wristwatch and a $1,500 diamond and platinum pendant.

Larkspur Planners Continue Hearing On 'Encroachment'

A hearing into allegations of an encroachment by commercial buildings onto a frontage road east of Highway 101 was continued by the Larkspur Planning Commission Tuesday night to Nov. 12.

Property owners led by Oscar Tyroler said relocation of buildings by George Bartram had encroached eight feet.

City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper said the roadway easement in question is not under city jurisdiction. The matter was continued for Piper to check further on this.

The commission agreed to meet with city council and Pacific Gas and Electric Co. representatives at 7 p.m. Nov. 5 in the Blue Rock Restaurant to discuss a street lighting plan.

Two San Francisco Bars Lose Licenses

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The liquor license of the Kuo Wah Restaurant in San Francisco has been suspended for 20 days, with 10 days stayed, and the firm put on one-year probation for serving drinks after hours.

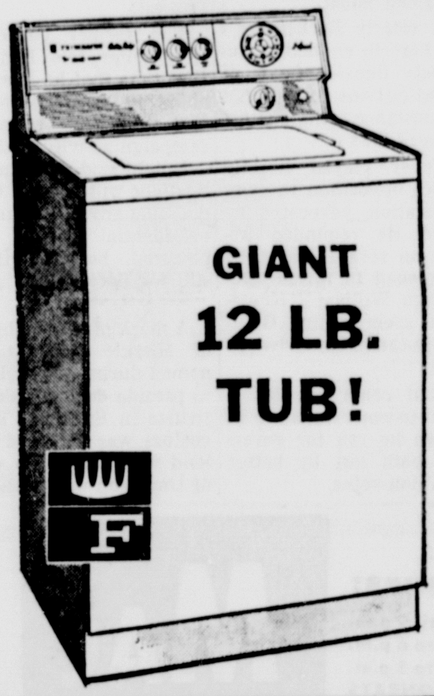

The Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control also revoked the bar license of the Black Cat, San Francisco, for permitting the place to be used as a "resort for sexual perverts."

Lerch Wallops Redevelopment Agency

Alton Lerch of Novato, chairman of the Redevelopment Agency of the County of Marin, has declared war on Commissioner Harold Stockstad of Mill Valley for making unauthorized statements.

In a cold letter, Lerch promises Stockstad a hot time at a public meetings of the agency with the county board of supervisors Nov. 4.

Lerch declared Stockstad has been popping off in "catalystic statements on matters yet to be discussed by your fellow commisioners in this agency". In view of Stockstad's lack of authorization, he declares that through the letter "any statements you may have made in behalf of the Redevelopment Agency are null and void."

Discussion of all this will take place Nov. 4, the letter says.

According to Lerch, Stockstad "contacts with various groups, committees and the board of supervisors" have "created decisions and movements of the respective bodies into positions that apparently meet with your personal approval."

He claims Supervisor Peter Behr, who nominated Stockstad to the agency board, was influenced by Stockstad to call for an exploratory meeting Nov. 4 "covering the progress of Marin City."

Other "contacts that should have cleared the commission or at least myself, the chairman" are cited by Lerch as including a telegram to the county planning commission on height limitation change in the Marin City Master Plan, and an appearance before the Citizens Advisory Committee to discuss function and responsibility of the Redevelopment Agency.

Market Request

Desmond Mactavish Associates of San Francisco will ask the Corte Madera Board of Design at 7:30 p.m. Monday in town hall for an opinion on its proposal to build a market and three small shops at Redwood and Corte Madera avenues.

U.S. Big Lift Called Success —But Critics Still Question

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—The massive airlift of 15,000 U.S. soldiers across the Atlantic has ended in resounding success. But a nagging question remains unanswered:

How would Exercise Big Lift have fared under war conditions?

The last of 235 Air Force transport planes deposited the rear guard of the Second Armored Division at Sembach Air Base last night.

The elopsed time from the takeoff of the first jet transport from Fort Hood, Tex., Tuesday until the touchdown of the tailend troop carrier in Germany was 63 hours and 20 minutes.

This was 20 mintues less than the best time that Air Force and Army leaders had predicted for the transatlantic airlife. It was designed to impress NATO countries — and the Soviets—with growing U.S. ability to send large reinforcements overseas quickly.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk met with Ludwig Erhard, West Germany's new chancellor, at the chancellor's residence. It was their first meeting since Erhard, former economics minister, succeeded Konrad Adenauer Oct. 16.

East-West relations projected tariff reductions and U.S. troop strength in Europe were the reported topics.

Except for a handful of plane diversions due to fog, the airlift was virtually perfect.

Critics asked what would happen if the depots filled with tanks, artillery and other heavy gear were overrun before U.S. troops could land?

Lt. Gen. Thomas Dunn, armored corps commander at Fort Hood, answered this by saying heavy gear was stockpiled west of the Rhine "where the great probability is that the equipment would not be overrun."

England Hit By Earthquake

PORTSMOUTH, England (AP)—An earthquake under the English Channel rocked towns and villages for 50 miles around today. There were no injuries or serious damage.

Instruments at the Kew Observatory in London indicated the underwater center of the tremor was about 20 miles south of Portsmouth.

As earthquakes go, this was a mere baby. England has such minor tremors once every two or three years.

Man In Crash On Waldo

A San Francisco man was taken to Ross General Hospital by ambulance shortly after noon yesterday after a two-car accident on Highway 101 north of the Waldo tunnel that the California Highway Patrol listed as a non-injury accident.

Explanation for this apparent confusion was that Benjamin Shapiro was being driven to the hospital by his wife, Carol, 46, when the accident happened. After her car ticked the front of another and spun into the divider strip, there was no way for Shapiro to get to the hospital other than by ambulance.

Mrs. Shapiro ticked the front of another northbound car driven by Lyle Lloyd Lindsey, 63, of 2 Yale Avenue, Larkspur, when she changed from the middle to the inside lane, Patrolmen W. E. Chaty and James P. Cahill said.

Shapiro, who was suffering from an intestinal obstruction, was released from the hospital today.

Rockefeller Is Returning Home After 'Goldwater Land' Exposure

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller returns to New York with at least part of his mission in California accomplished.

He wanted exposure in the big state where Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is well entrenched, and he got it.

Whether he kindled any political fires is something else.

The turnouts in San Francisco and Los Angeles enheartened Rockefeller's staff. He addressed two influential groups, pumped hands and huddled privately with party workers.

The governor dubbed himself the underdog in a prospective presidential primary contest with Goldwater, but a prominent Los Angeles Republican observed, "We're a long way from being dead."

There's still no sign of headway in building a Rockefeller organization in the state almost from scratch. Many of the party leaders lean toward Goldwater. Still others are uncommitted, including a number of Richard Nixon's followers.

"A lot of people have not made up their minds," said former Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight.

Pro-Rockefeller forces have approached some Republicans who helped Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California win reelection last year, after knocking off two self-styled conservatives in the primary. Kuchel has remained silent.

It was clearly Rockefeller's strategy here to enunciate Kuchel's party line—in favor of the United Nations and foreign aid, for instance, and against right-to-work laws.

Rockefeller played heavily on his own opposition to open shop legislation, advocated by Goldwater. He reminded Republicans on several occasions what happened to former Republican Sen. William F. Knowland, now spearheading Goldwater's pre-campaign drive in California.

Knowland came out for a state right-to-work initiative in 1958, when he ran for governor, and both lost by better than a million votes.

Knight, who yielded to Knowland in the governorship race that year, joined 1,000 or so other guests in a reception line last night and was greeted warmly by Rockefeller.

He's been on the political sidelines since he opened a Rockefeller headquarters in Los Angeles earlier in the year, then closed it at Rockefeller's request.

The former governor said Rockefeller told him for the first time that he knew he was about to remarry and felt it was premature to encourage campaign activity at that stage.

Knight said new business obligations will prevent him from devoting any major time to the presidential election. He emphasized, however, that "I'm still for Rockefeller."

A mock official dubbed Lord of Misrule was traditionally named during the Middle Ages to preside during Yuletide festivities in England. The same custom was followed in Scotland where the title of Abbot of Unreason was applied.

Marin MAGAZINE

Bright reading for the whole week

Featured this Saturday:

Make no mistake about it, Marin is gardening country. Furthermore, it is the home of gardening specialists. Tomorrow's issue of the Independent-Journal Marin Magazine will carry stories telling you about two of them — a 13-year-old Novato boy whose hobby is vegetable growing, and a San Rafael widow who raises succulent plants by the hundreds.

The holidays aren't far off. Among the first harbingers of the season are the Christmas cards. In the magazine tomorrow, the husband-and-wife team of photographer Robert Cadwallader and writer Lee Cadwallader report on a Marin firm which prints a million and a half such cards annually and distributes them throughout the country.

And speaking of the holidays, it's not too early to give some thought to what you can do in the way of special Christmas decorations for your home. The popular "Handyman's Page" in the I-J Marin Magazine tomorrow will tell you about a couple of ideas for your front yard — and how you can get the patterns for the do-it-yourself projects.

Marin's own magazine . . . picturing and reporting life in Marin today . . . personalities, recreation, coming events, book reviews, gardening, music, home improvement, weekly TV log. A week of good reading. Look for it, Saturdays.

SHE'S A MAN CHASER

New York City policewoman Marie Cirile, 35-year-old expectant mother, is shown with the man she hit with a gun butt as he struggled with a detective yesterday. Thomas Oliver, 35, who holds his wounded shoulder, and a pal were cornered while attempting to loot a parked car. The pal surrendered but Oliver fled. Mrs. Cirile, who starts maternity leave next week, gave chase in a squad car and fired a shot at the fleeing man. The detective caught him and during the struggle Mrs. Cirile used the butt of her gun to help subdue him. (AP Wirephoto)

CMA Charges Elderly Not Getting Funds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A spokesman for the California Medical Assn. charged yesterday that millions of federal dollars intended as medical aid for the elderly are winding up in county treasuries.

Dr. Lewis T. Bullock of Los Angeles made the charge before a State Senate committee which is investigating operations of the State Department of Social Welfare.

Bullock said 90 per cent of the 24.7 million dollars in Kerr-Mills funds paid through the welfare department in 1962 was used by county hospitals for the care of indigents.

"These results are something that completely surprised us (the medical association)," he said. "The purpose of the Kerr-Mills Law is to provide assistance for elderly people with reduced income who incur large medical expenses."

Earlier State Sen. J. Eugene McAteer (D-San Francisco) had criticized the welfare department as a "typically bureaucratic autocracy" in its administration of aid to the aged ill.

McAteer is author of a legislative resolution which he said was intended to give recipients a wider choice of nursing homes. He said the resolution's purpose was defeated by a May 1 Welfare Department regulation which put a ceiling on what could be paid.

Doctors Zero In On Medical Quackery In U.S.

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON—The second National Congress on Medical Quackery opened today.

It set the stage for a curious, furious round-robin.

The Food and Drug Administration distributed a letter attacking an organization called the National Health Federation.

The federation opened its own meeting at a hotel two miles away. Spokesmen said it would offer rebuttals to the quackery congress' sponsors, and its first speaker attacked both of them.

Since both the American Medical Assn. and FDA were sponsoring the quackery congress, the circle was completed.

From the quackery congress came these voices:

Dr. Edward R. Annis, president of AMA: "I am sure that what we do in the next day and a half will help to keep the quacks on the defensive."

FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick: "There is only one way to approach the problem of quackery and that is to go after it aggressively and persistently."

At the federation's "First National Congress on Health Monopoly," the first speaker was Dr. Miles Robinson of Potomac, Md.

He said in a prepared address: "The least we can do is to forbid the AMA to take money from drug companies. This conflict of interest is deadly to the American people, and must be eliminated.

"We must pull the Food and Drug Administration out of the AMA's hip pocket, and require the FDA to treat any licensed health practitioner with the consideration his license entitles him to. Let the FDA act more as an educating agency, and less as a gestapo police force."

Doctor Annis brought up Krebiozen, recently ruled by the government to be ineffective as a cancer cure. Sometimes, he said, doctors—"under constant pressure by the patient or his family, use a treatment which has not been found to be effective by the medical community."

Using Krebiozen as an example, he pointed out that the AMA found it ineffective some 12 years ago—but the sales of the drug continued.

The Canadian Chiropractic Assn., striking out in advance at charges it expects during the congress, said the medical profession had failed to clean its own house.

"There is no doubt whatsoever that there is an uncomfortably high degree of incompetence and unethical conduct on the part of medical practitioners and that the decline of medicine's prestige in recent years is largely a result of these facts," the association said in a statement submitted to the U.S. government.

"We certainly do not deny that there are also problems within the chiropractic profession but they pale into relative insignificance when compared to the situation which has been allowed to develop in medicine in spite of that profession's relatively strong legislative position," it said.

Blaze Damages $200 In Cotton At San Quentin

Fire damaged 5,000 pounds of cotton at the San Quentin textile mill yesterday afternoon.

Associate Warden Dale B. Frady said the fire started in the room where bales of cotton are opened. He estimated fire and water damage to the cotton at $200.

The 250 men on the 4 p.m.-to-midnight shift who had just started work were returned to their quarters and the mill shut down for the night. It resumed operations this morning, Frady said.

Firmen from the prison fire department and inmates put out the fire. The cause was being investigated today.

Ship To Promote Trade For Nation

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP)—A ship will sail out of New York harbor Nov. 21, carrying exhibits from major U.S. industries to 32 countries.

It will be named the Tradefair and its purpose will be to promote trade between the United States and the countries it visits.

The 10-million-dollar vessel, 525 feet long and of about 20,000 tons displacement, has government support but is privately financed.

Rear Adm. John H. Morrill (ret.), president of the First United States World Trade Fair Ship, Inc., said of the project:

"We believe that world peace and understanding among nations can best be achieved through personal contacts between peoples of the world and that this ship is one means by which closer social and business meetings can be made possible."

The itinerary includes London, Rotterdam, Hamburg, Marseilles, Bombay, Genoa, Singapore, Hong Kong, Tokyo, Sidney, Manila, Capetown and Buenos Aires.

Morrill said about one million trade buyers are expected to view the exhibits each year. Registration will be by invitation and the daily rate will be held to 4,000 to 5,000 visitors.

His estimate was based on studies of the market made by the Department of Commerce, independent research and the results of the Japanese floating trade fair ship, Sakuru Maru, which sold 15 million dollars of goods in 10 ports in four months.

The Tradefair project is sponsored by 10 New York firms and has received support in Washington. Besides industrial firms, a number of states and the Department of Commerce and Agriculture have indicated interest in contracting for space, according to Morrill.

The Baha'i ceremony was performed at Damone's hillside home by an elder in the sect.

The couple then flew to Las Vegas and obtained a marriage license under their real names, Vito Paranolo and Judith Rawlins.

Hillside Apartment Plan Is Denied In Fairfax

About 50 residents of Marinda Oaks crowded into the Fairfax City Council chambers last night to hear the city planning commission turn down a request for an apartment project on an 18-acre site above the Jolly Store.

The commission denied the request of the developers, Dunn-Weddell Co., to build 130 houses, duplexes and apartments on the hillside, stating that the plan should be resubmitted when a planned development zoning district is put into effect.

Dan M. Miller, planning commission chairman, said the developers would "unquestionably" resubmit their plans.

A planned development zoning district, Miller said, would give the city greater control over development of the site.

Objections to the project were based on drainage costs, defacing the beauty of the hillside and dislike of homes above Marinda Oaks, Miller said.

The planning commission also forwarded two amendments to the zoning ordinance to the city council, which will consider them on Nov. 12.

One amendment calls for lowering the maximum height of apartment buildings from 34 to 30 feet. The other increases the square footage of lots on which apartments can be built from 6,000 to 12,000 square feet.

Panmunjom, Island Of Quemoy Now Big Tourist Spots

War Could Erupt Around Visitors Without Warning

By DONALD J. BRYDON

TOKYO (UPI) — Two of the world's strangest tourist attractions gain part of their lure from the fact that war could erupt around them at any minute.

They are Panmunjom in Korea, and Quemoy Island in the Formosa Strait.

Both have been right in the middle of hot war. Heavily armed troops glare at one another at both points. There have been no peace treaties. Sporadic fighting occurs in both areas, and World War III could explode without warning at either site.

Yet growing numbers of tourists—complete with sports shirts, sun glasses and cameras —are finding their way to Panmunjom and Quemoy.

The civilian tourists are being urged to visit Panmunjom by the Republic of Korea, the South Korean government. They are being invited to tour the fortified Island of Quemoy just off the coast of mainland China by the Nationalist Chinese government now entrenched on Formosa.

The South Koreans and Nationalist Chinese obviously think there is propaganda value to be gained from letting the tourists see the two war zones. It is something like visiting the Berlin wall.

About 3,000 tourists a month visit Panmunjom from South Korea. The North Koreans have equal access to the truce village, but only about 30 visitors a month come from the Communist north.

An official United Nations publication describes the Korean armistice this way:

"Korea is still at war. A peace treaty has never been signed. The United Nations and Republic of Korea forces are not engaged in active combat with the armies of North Korea and Communist China, but they still oppose each other along a 151-mile frontier.

"It is a period of suspended hostilities under an armed truce signed nearly a decade ago. Because a political treaty has never been signed, the Korean military armistice agreement remains in effect. It is the longest armistice in history."

The armistice was signed at Panmunjom on July 27, 1953. A demilitarized zone, called the DMZ, winds 151 miles eastward across the Korean Peninsula from the Han River estuary in the west to the Sea of Japan.

The DMZ is 4,000 meters wide and both sides pulled their forces back. Only at Panmunjom are there armed troops, with both U. N. forces — mostly Americans — and Communist North Koreans patrolling the village.

It is here that American soldiers pass their North Korean counterparts without speaking. Sometimes the North Koreans attempt to strike up a conversation with the Americans, but the U. N. forces are under instructions not to answer.

The sightseers from South Korea are told they can take photographs of anything and anyone, but not to pursue it if the North Korean soldiers object to having their pictures taken.

The U. N. forces want no incidents at Panmunjom, and there have been no serious problems. There have been a few cases of pushing and shoving on both sides.

The visitors are particularly warned not to attempt to strike up a political discussion with the Communists. The idea is merely to let the tourists see the village, and then they are given a military briefing on the situation. They are told what occurs during the periodic meetings of the Military Armistice Commission at Panmunjom.

The meetings are held in the circular joint security area at Panmunjom. The Military Demarcation Line (MDL) bisects the 800-meter diameter area. The conference building is located on this line, which runs right down the middle of the long green felt covered table. The U. N. officials sit on their side of the line and the Communists sit on their side. Neither ever crosses to the other side of the table.

The tourist business on Quemoy, the fortified island just off the coast of mainland China, is stimulated by the same curious fascination as at Panmunjom.

Visitors to Panmunjom arrive by bus, truck and car, while the tourists get to Quemoy aboard low-flying planes which keep close to the water to escape the Red Chinese radar on the mainland.

Quemoy is still under periodic artillery bombardment from the mainland only a few miles away, although most of the shells fired now contain only propaganda leaflets.

The Nationalist Chinese have honeycombed the rocky island with tunnels and bomb-proof compartments. They, too, give military briefings to the visitors, explaining why they want to keep possession of the offshore island and why the Communists want to drive them off.

Quemoy is the Nationalist Chinese front line in the civil war with the Communists which began in 1935. The dividing line is a waterway only 5,000 yards wide at its narrowest point.

Visitors to Formosa are urged to see Quemoy before they leave. When the visitor lands at the Quemoy landing strip, he sees barbed wire and booby trapped beaches. Each visitor has a military escort, usually a colonel, who explains what can be photographed and what can not.

The tourists are given a look at Red China across the strait through telescopes, then they are taken through the maze of underground tunnels where the soldiers live and work. They see every few yards an artillery piece or a machine gun poking through holes cut in the solid stone.

One of the highlights of the tourist's visit to Quemoy is the psychological warfare center. This is a small building divided into two parts.

On each side there is a display of propaganda leaflets of both the Communists and the Nationalists. The ingenious methods used for delivering the leaflets are explained.

The Nationalists print slogans inside matchboxes, insert messages in bars of soap, and even slip them into the mouths of dead fish which are left on the Communist shore by swimmers.

Sometimes the goods are sent across by raft and sometimes the leaflets are dropped over mainland China by airplanes.

The Chinese Reds use many of the same techniques.

The visitor to Quemoy is then given a big balloon to which is attached a Nationalist slogan. He lets it go and it soars up into the air toward the mainland.

At both Panmunjom and Quemoy the tourist is fascinated by the fact that he is in a war zone. The thoughts that pass through his mind are his own, but he surely must wonder if either of these protracted struggles between East and West will ever end.

CONSCIENCE TEST USES CHAIR, SHOCK

Experiment Conducted To Find Out How Far Yanks Will Go To Obey Commands

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI)—One man was strapped into a chair and hooked up to an electrical shock generator. The other man sat in front of controlling switches, free to make this helpless one suffer — or to spare him.

This was the basis of an experiment to find out how far Americans will go against their grain of conscience and fellow-feeling in obeying what they consider to be proper commands.

Dr. Stanley Milgram set it up. There were 30 switches in a row. The one on the far left was labeled 15 volts. Switch by switch the voltage increased in units of 15 and the far right switch was marked 450 volts.

The four switches on the left were additionally marked "slight shock." The next four were marked "moderate shock." Then came "strong shock," "very strong shock," "intense shock," "extreme intensity shock" and, finally, "danger — severe shock." The markings over the last two switches were simply "X X X."

One by one 40 men manipulated these switches, separated by a thin wall from a man they had helped to strap into the chair. In ages, occupations, and education they were a cross - section of American males.

They had been told the coming experiment concerned the effect of punishment on learning. Each one heard this cock-and-bull story in the presence of a stranger who seemed to be a paid experimental subject, too.

The two of them drew lots to determine who would be "teacher" and who "learner." The second man was a ringer; he was the "learner" for all 40. After helping to strap him into the chair, each man sat before the switches and read from a list of words.

The man in the chair was supposed to learn how to match the words. Each time he made a mistake, the scientific experimenter ordered the man at the switches to give him a shock, and to increase its intensity with each new mistake. Then a red light went on, a blue light flashed, instrument needles moved, and the room filled with a hum.

Since he was being paid for a job, the man at the switches felt obliged to obey his employer. Since the experimenting was being done in a Yale University laboratory in New Haven, Conn., he felt it was legal. He also knew an electrical shock is painful—and is increasingly painful as the voltage increases.

For each one of the representative American males, the ringer strapped in the chair made enough mistakes to get all the switches pulled on him. When the alleged voltage began getting high he began pounding on the wall, calling attention to his pain.

Beforehand, Milgram asked 14 advanced students of human psychology to estimate how many out of any "100 Americans of diverse occupations" would in obedience to orders inflict pain on a helpless man to the maximum amount possible. The estimates ranged from zero to 3 per cent.

But 26 of the 40 men went all the way. Only five of the remaining 14 defied orders before the "punishment" got beyond 300 volts. Actually, there was no shocking — the generator wasn't generating. But none of the 40 men knew that.

And none went through with the experiment without cost to himself, Milgram said in reporting to the American Psychological Assn.

"Subjects were observed to sweat, tremble, stutter, bite their lips, groan and dig their finger nails into their flesh. One sign of tension was the regular occurrence of nervous laughing fits."

Growth Tied To Some Use Of Fluoride

LONDON (AP) — Two medical researchers say they have found laboratory evidence that the growth of human cells is slowed by sodium fluoride. They called for more research into the effects of fluoroidation of water supplies.

The results were reported in the British Medical Journal, organ of the British Medical Assn., by Dr. Roger Berry, an Oxford University radio-biologist, and Wilfred Trillwood, director of pharmaceutical services for an Oxford hospitals group.

The sodium fluoride used in their experiments, they said, was only one-twentieth the strength of that in fluoridated drinking water. But they added that their results did not necessarily mean that fluoridation of water is unsafe.

Fluoridation of water as a means of reducing tooth decay has been a matter of considerable controversy in both the United States and Britain.

Pozzi Sells Business, Now Manager

Novato City Councilman Everett Pozzi yesterday announced the sale of his concrete business, E. Pozzi Co., to Shamrock Materials Inc. of 665 Irwin Street, San Rafael.

The company will be known as E. Pozzi Inc., he said. He will remain as manager. There will be no change in the business operation, he said.

Sale price was not disclosed.

Pozzi said he sold out and retired from business once before, in 1959. He toured the world then, but returned to the business in 1960.

"I want to keep active in business," he said, "but I also want some time off each year to do some of the things I have always wanted to do."

Two years ago he made a hunting trip to Africa and last fall went to northern British Columbia on a hunting trip. He said he wants to go to Alaska hunting.

College Ski Club Elects Officers

Robert Andrade of San Rafael has been elected president of the College of Marin Ski Club.

Victoria Lloyd was elected secretary and Kathie L. Krelle, treasurer, both of San Anselmo.

The 64-member club plans a ski trip to Squaw Valley Nov. 21-Dec. 1, announced Andrade.

CAT FANCIERS SHOW

Best Household Pets Will Get The Crowns

There'll be a king of the cats and a queen of the cats at the Marin County Cat Fanciers' show Nov. 2-3. They'll be awarded cat-size crowns as symbols of their royalty.

But the coveted crowns won't be worn by any of the pedigreed, expensive felines. They will go instead to the two cats judged the best household pets.

The royal cats will be chosen at 3 p.m. Nov. 3, by all-breed judge Kay McQuillen of Mansfield, Ohio. The actual coronation will be done by Frederic D. Kerr, president of the Marin County Humane Society. The show is traditionally a benefit for the Humane Society.

The two-day event will be held at the National Guard armory at the Civic Center site. It will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. both days.

The crowns were made and donated by Frank Magnan of Richmond, a nationally known breeder of Siamese cats.

Mrs. Byrne Davis, president of the Marin Fanciers, explains that in the world of the feline fancy a "household pet" is a "just plain cat." Household pets may be shorthair or longhair, any color or combination of colors. They are judged purely on the basis of beauty and condition, and need meet no breed standards.

But there'll be plenty of cats at the Marin show that do meet these standards, Mrs. Davis said. Examples of every breed recognized by the Cat Fanciers' Assn., Inc., national organization with which the Marin club is affiliated, have been entered.

In addition to the Marin all-breed competition, there will also be an all-breed show sponsored by the CFA National Cat Club. Mrs. Fredna Farmer of Coronado will be the judge.

There will be separate, additional competitions for shorthair and longhair cats. Shorthair judge will be Mrs. Robert Ebert of Fremont, and longhairs will be judged by Mrs. Grace Over of Pasadena.

Further information about the show may be obtained from Mrs. Davis, 541 Whitewood Drive, Marinwood, or show manager R. D. Layman, 50 Mohawk Avenue, Corte Madera.

School Group Holds Record Short Meeting

The augmented Marin County Committee on School District Organization belied the length of its name last night and held a record short 18-minute meeting in Sausalito.

Twenty-nine persons were in the audience at Central School to discuss the proposal to unify the Tamalpais High School District with all the elementary school districts now within its boundaries.

When committee chairman Earl Marshall of Novato had concluded introducing committee members, augmented committee members, Sausalito school board members, and representatives from school boards of Kentfield, Mill Valley, Fairfax, Lagunitas and Bolinas-Stinson Beach, he had covered almost the entire audience.

Two lonely hands in a sea of officialdom were raised when Marshall asked if there were any just plain Sausalito residents who had been interested enough to come.

Committee members agreed to adjourn the meeting and possibly hold a later one in the city as part of their scheduled series of 11, one in each of the elementary districts which would be affected by unification.

The meeting broke up into private discussion groups as some people headed for the Sausalito City Hall where a hearing on the firing of Police Chief Howard Goerndt was playing to a full house.

The company said the ranch, onetime headquarters of the Utah Construction Co., will be used for cattle-raising and farming.

ON FLIGHT FROM CANADA

U.S. Seeking To Keep Alive Vanishing Whooping Cranes

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The season for adding up the few whooping cranes left in the world's last flock is now at hand.

The annual migration of the big, graceful birds to winter quarters at the Aransas Wildlife Refuge on the Texas Gulf Coast started this week. The birds go to the refuge from Wood Buffalo National Park near Canada's Great Slave Lake. They follow a 2,500-mile aerial patch over parts of the Canadian provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan and across the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas to the 47,000-acre refuge on Blackjack Peninsula.

Primary interest in the whoopers will be the number remaining. Almost as important will be the number of young the world's last flock brings from the summer nesting grounds in Canada.

Last spring 28 whoopers lifted their brilliant white bodies with red-crowned heads and seven-foot black-tipped wingspreads into the air for the long trek north. This was four less than the number which made the southward migration in the fall of 1962 and 10 fewer than the 38-33 adults and five young — which started north in the spring of 1962.

The whoopers, whose trumpet-like calls can be heard at greast distances, began to get scarce around the middle of the 19th Century.

Never very numerous, they began showing up with greater infrequency on their range on the Arctic Coast to Central Mexico and from Utah to South Carolina. Settlement of the country, expansion of agriculture, and related activities, including drainage of wetlands and coastal marches, reduced their range.

As the range shrank and some of the birds were shot, the population didminished until by the early 1920s, when the last observed nest was reported in Saskatchewan, fewer than 50 birds were left to find their way to remote spots on the wintering grounds.

People became concerned. What they once had in profusion was dribbling away. So, in 1937, the government spent $463,532 to buy the land which became the Arkansas Wildlife Refuge, a home which also is a sanctuary for the snowy egret, long-billed curlew, wild turkey, Canada goose, and pintail, widgeon and gadwall duck. White-tailed deer, peccaries, armadillos, rabbits, opossums, raccoons and squirrels also inhabit the area.

In 1938 the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service made its first count of the cranes. There were 14, of which four were young. The next year 22 cranes made the long flight from Canada. A year later there were 26. But in the fall of 1941 the total dropped to 15.

The number fluctuated until in 1962 a peak of 38 was reached. Then 10 disappeared. Where, no one knows. In 25 years, when the count began, the flock grew only from 14 to 28, hardly a safe margin for a species fighting for survival.

The government apparently has spent relatively little on the cranes. The cost of the wildlife refuge was considerable, but it is home for many species other than the cranes. In the winter of 1962-63, the cost of government aerial surveys to count the birds and the cost of grain scattered through the refuge was about $2,000. The normal upkeep of the refuge itself also is a cost item, but it's difficult to allocate a specific cost item to a crane.

Officials of the Fish and Wildlife Service describe the behavior of the cranes during the winter as erratic and unpredictable. Over the years it has been their habit to spend most of their time on the east short flats of the refuge and in similar habitat on Matagorda and St. Joseph islands, near the Blackjack Peninsula.

Blue crabs and other marine life comprise the major portion of the whooper diet. These foods usually are plentiful in the shore areas. Sometimes, though, the cranes wander and have been known to frequent wheat fields about 25 miles from the normal feeding area.

In addition to the flock of wild cranes, there are seven in captivity—six at the Audubon Park Zoo in New Orleans and one in the San Antonio, Tex., Zoo.

The most noted pair of cranes are Josephine and Crip in the Audubon Park Zoo. Josephine is the sole survivor of non-migratory groups which formerly occupied coastal marshes in Southern Louisiana. She was shot in 1940 and brought to the zoo. Josephine's first mate was Pete. Pete had been injured on the Platte River near Gothenburg, Neb., in 1936. Josephine and Pete got together in 1948. After a single nesting effort yielding two eggs which did not hatch, Pete died during the autumn of 1949.

Another crane, Crip, wing-injured and unable to migrate, took Pete's place. He was accepted by Josephine to the extent that more than 30 eggs were laid. Nine cranes hatched, of which four survived.

The Fish and Wildlife Service constantly appeals to people to spare the whoopers in every way possible. Its latest appeal reads:

"Wanted: Safe passage for the whooping cranes, America's largest and rarest birds."

HOW MANY LEFT?—World-famed whooping crane Josephine flaps a wing gently as she witnesses her offspring emerging from its shell. There is interest in the number of birds remaining and how many of the young were born this year. (UPI photo)

Tiburon Unit Happy Over Architect Choice

The Tiburon Peninsula Coordinating Council Board agreed Wednesday night to congratulate Tamalpais Union High School District trustees on selection of the architectural firm of Crawford and Banning for the proposed Tiburon High School.

The board said, too, it will be happy to work with the trustees on a citizen committee to coordinate local thoughts on design with those of the architect, acting chairman John S. Hoffmire reported.

The council will meet at 8 p.m. Nov. 20 in the Reed School auditorium at which time the transportation and utilities committee will make reports.

William H. Rafter, Gilbert B. Darroch and Stephen H. Nash were appointed as a committee to nominate officers for 1964.

The council's committee on proposed school unification will make a report Nov. 20.

Mrs. James L. Heynemann was appointed secretary of the council, replacing Marcel Ehres, who has resigned. Mrs. Heynemann was also appointed as representative of the reevaluation committee of the Reed Union School District.

The membership committee has been reactivated under William Rafter as chairman, Hoffmire said.

Booster Use A Little Oomph

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The athletic boosters at suburban Fern Creek High provided about $25,000 in field lights, bleachers, uniforms and other equipment in three years.

But, they decided to put a little extra oomph into their 1963 carnival.

To make certain they got maximum coverage, the boosters hired a 43-whistle calliope which could be heard in a three to five mile radius.

Snake In Home Alarms Woman

Mrs. Marian Junkin of Homestead thought she was seeing things at 11:30 a.m. yesterday when she found a snake coiled up on her living room rug, sunning itself.

She called Mill Valley police who referred the reptilian problem to the sheriff's office. Sgt. Guy Gibbs dispatched himself to 10 Midway Avenue. But the snake had disappeared.

Gibbs found the snake, which he described as 18 inches long, black with a gold stripe, under a wood box by the fireplace. Gibbs said he did not know if it was poisonous but to allay any doubts—and Mrs. Junkin's fears—he got rid of it with a poker.

USC Choice Over Bears; Stanford Hosts Notre Dame

Cal 15-Point Underdog In Battle At Berkeley

BERKELEY (AP) — Southern California's Trojans open defense of their Big Six Conference football title and their bid to return to the Rose Bowl when they meet the underdog California Bears tomorrow.

Oddsmakers installed the versatile Trojans as 15-point favorites over the California team that must depend primarily on the passing of Craig Morton as its offensive weapon.

Morton, the tall junior from Campbell, Calif., connected on five touchdown passes a week ago in a 34-13 victory over San Jose State.

On the same day the Trojans trounced the highly rated Ohio State Buckeyes 32-3 proving they are ready for the Big Six campaign that rewards its champion with the host Rose Bowl invitation.

Coach Johnny McKay has stressed the conference championship more than national honors, starting even before fall practice began.

So losses to Oklahoma and Notre Dame didn't take the fire out of the Trojans who looked better than ever last week and proved they're ready for the drive to the Pasadena bowl starting with this 1:30 p.m. kickoff.

Pete Beathard directs the I-formation offense with speedsters Willie Brown and sophomore Mike Garrett at the halves and Ernie Pye at fullback.

California also boasts speed in the backfield and both Jim Blakeney and Tom Blanchfield have turned in long kickoff returns this campaign. The Bears count on a couple of watchfob fullbacks, Rudy Carvajal and Tom Rellis, each of whom could weigh 175 pounds soaking wet.

Similarity also exists between a pair of 6-foot 5 ends. Hal Bedsole has been a favorite USC target and when he fails the club fails. Jack Schraub, a teammate of Morton's at Campbell High School, has turned out to be a favorite pass receiver on the Cal side this campaign.

Sophomore Jerry Mosher at flanker back also has shown continual improvement in the pass catching department.

Irish, Indians Collide In National TV Game

STANFORD (AP) — Notre Dame's Fighting Irish appear to have started at the top and be working down in their campaign to whip all the California football opposition in view.

They started with Southern California and a 17-14 triumph, followed with a 27-12 verdict over UCLA and now come up against a sophomore directed Stanford club in the national television game tomorrow.

Since UCLA beat Stanford 10-9, the Irish have been installed a two-touchdown favorite to make it three in a row over California opposition.

Already having lost senior quarterback Clark Weaver via a knee injury, the Indians come up to this one with halfback Steve Thurlow weakened by the flu. The two started this season as the one-two Stanford attack.

Now Dick Berg gets his first starting assignment before the nation-wide video audience and a stadium crowd of about 50,000 in quite an assignment for a 20-year-old collegian from Puyallup, Wash., a community with a population of 12,063 at the last census.

With Frank Budka directing the attack, the Irish are figured to have too much power with such runners as sophomore Bill Wolski, Joe Farrell, Paul Costa and Joe Kantor. The latter, a junior from Cleveland, leads the Irish in rushing with 175 yards and a 4.5 average. Wolski, from Muskegon, Mich., had 164 yards and a 5.3 average.

Stanford's backfield hopefully will include Thurlow, who can run or pass with equal ability, right halfback Dick Ragsdale and sophomore fullback Glenn Myers.

The starting units at the 1:30 p.m. kickoff will be close to the same in line weights at 216 for Stanford and 217 for the Irish on the average. Notre Dame's backs, however, will weigh 205 to 186 for the Indians.

In the stands for this third meeting of the two schools will be the Four Horsemen who starred for the Irish Rose Bowl team and Nevers, the Stanford All America. In that famed Notre Dame backfield were Harry Stuhldreher, Don Miller, Jim Crowley and Elmer Layden.

Cage Coaches' Clinic Tomorrow; Ex-Celtic Great Will Appear

College of Marin will be basketball headquarters of Northern California tomorrow when the annual Marin County Basketball Coaches Clinic holds court starting at 8:30 a.m.

Director Cal Riemcke, the Marin college's fabulously successful coach, once again has lined up a cracker-jack roster of speakers, including Bill Sharman, a Boston Celtics star for a decade who now coaches Los Angeles State; Ned Wulk, Arizona State mentor; and Dick Edwards from University of Pacific.

Sharman, a Celtic guard who rates as one of the all-time great shooters, will discuss "fundamentals of shooting." Wulk will talk about and demonstrate his fast break offense and conditioning, and Edwards will concentrate on high school organization and player development.

Coaches from all levels of the game—elementary school through college—will sit in on the talks and demonstrations.

SAN RAFAEL'S Joe DeMaestri, whose playing weight was 175 pounds a few years ago with the Yankees, has ballooned up to 195. Could be that fine Falstaff or Busch Bavarian he and his dad, Sil, distribute in Marin.

A GOLFER at San Rafael's Peacock Gap course the other afternoon was the Giants' Willie McCovey.

DICK HART, Redwood High coach, was in Novato last Sunday when the first half of the 49er-Bear game had its two-minute warning. Hart drove all the way to the courthouse in downtown San Rafael before the halftime gun sounded.

"No wonder," he commented, "the coaches say the last two minutes are the toughest."

AND SPEAKING of that 49er-Bear game, a friend of ours thought he found a real pigeon Sunday morning when this guy approached him and flatly declared: "The 49ers are going to beat the Bears today, just you wait and see."

Our friend, mindful of the 17-point favorites' role for the Bears, and seeing dollar signs spinning in his head, countered: "If you're so sure, let's make a friendly wager—like $20 even money."

The bet was made and our friend is still crying in his beer. "How could he have known" he keeps muttering. Which is a very good question, indeed.

GUIDED TOURS of the golf course layout of the new San Geronimo Valley Country Club will be conducted between noon and 3 p.m. Sunday.

Although construction is not scheduled to start until early next spring, the course has been marked with flagsticks at all greens and tees locations. Club President Laurence Dashiell of Greenbrae said, "This is such a natural site for a golf course that with the flags and tee markers in place a golfer's imagination can very easily do the rest."

Members will be present to conduct the tours.

The San Geronimo club is enlisting members at an initiation fee of $2,500. In the plans are a 6,500-yard par 72 course, a 20,000 square foot clubhouse, a swimming pool and tennis courts. The club site is on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard about three miles west of Fairfax. Look for signs.

FORMER NOVATO High grid star Tom Mace is currently first string tackle at College of San Mateo. Mace, who won All-Marin League honors and "most valuable lineman" and "most improved player" awards at Novato, transferred to San Mateo this year after attending Notre Dame last year. He plans to attend the University of Arizona next year.

Marin Catholic 'C' Quint Wins 7th Tilt

The undefeated Marin Catholic Class C basketball team won its seventh straight game in Marin Athletic League action yesterday when it downed Redwood 35-21 in the Giants' gym.

High scorers for the league-leading Wild kittens were Steve Fraire and Jim Ingrassia, both with 10. Andy Horn was top scorer for Redwood with seven points.

San Rafael Pair Catch A Whopper

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Mindle of 127 West End Avenue, San Rafael, caught a 94½ pound sailfish while deep sea fishing in Gulf of California waters in Mexico.

Besides the sailfish, the Mindles also caught a pair of dolphins weighing 20 pounds. The catch was made last Sunday.

Warner Tilt On KTIM

Radio Station KTIM will broadcast tomorrow's Pop Warner football game between the San Rafael Junior Bulldogs and Novato Junior Hornets from San Rafael High School's field, starting at 5 p.m.

THE MOODS OF MANAGER YOGI BERRA

Expressive Yogi Berra is caught in these moods as he answered questions yesterday about his appointment as manager of the New York Yankees, succeeding Ralph Houk who stepped up to general manager. Berra, the long-time Yankee catcher, agreed to a salary of about $35,000, considerably less than the estimated $45,000 he earned as a player-coach last season. (AP Wirephotos)

Palmer, Nicklaus Lose Lead

PARIS (AP) — South Africa fired ahead at the halfway mark in the Canada Cup golf matches today behind the steady play of the lesser-known members of its two-man team, Retief Waltman, as the favored United States slipped back into a three-way tie for second.

Waltman's three-under-par 69 and a 70 by international star Gary Player gave South Africa a 36-hole total of 277 and a one-stroke edge over the United States' Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, Canada and Spain.

The Americans are defending the cup against two-man teams from 32 other countries.

Palmer, with a string of three straight birdies on the front nine, posted a 70 and Nicklaus, after an erratic first nine, finished at even par 72. Palmer apparently was not bothered by the aching back that troubled him yesterday, but was considerably annoyed by photographers.

Canada's Al Balding and Stan Leonard, tied for first with the United States at 136 after Thursday's opening round, each had a 71.

Sebastian Miguel of Spain, individual first-round leader with a 66, carded a 73 and his partner, Ramon Sota, added a 67.

Other top finishers:

Mrs. Stu Harrison (Meadow), Mrs. Jan Moe (Harding), Mrs. Edward French (Meadow) and Mrs. Tom Marshall (Presidio)—130.

Mrs. G. McDaniel (Marin), Mrs. George Kerrigan (Meadow), Mrs. William May (Indian Valley) and Mrs. Charles Trost (Meadow)—137.

Squaw Valley Fund Misspent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Comptroller General Joseph Campbell reported to Congress today that $508,594 of the $3.5 million federal advance for the 1960 Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley was used improperly.

Campbell said Congress clearly intended that the federal money be used only for the construction of a sports arena.

Government auditors found, he said that the Organizing Committee for the games, a non-profit corporation, used about $500,000 of federal money to build two temporary practice ice rinks and one temporary speed skating rink outside the permanent sports arena and to purchase an oversize refrigeration unit to serve both the arena and the temporary rinks.

'We don not impute any improper motives to the Organizing Committee members and can conceive that there may have been a misunderstanding on their part," Campbell said.

He reported that the general accounting office notified the Organizing Committee in April 1962 and again May 27, 1963, that it owes the government $508,594, but had not been able to collect.

SRMA Runners Defeat Menlo

Bill Langan of San Rafael Military Academy nipped teammate John Garner by one second to win the varsity cross country meet against Menlo yesterday.

The runners led their team to a 25-30 victory over the visiting team from Menlo, with Langan winning with a time of 11:11 over the two-mile course at San Rafael High School.

The SRMA junior varsity runners also won their meet, 26-29 with San Rafael's Mike McGraw placing second to lead his team.

Giants To Televise 11 Games Next Year

The San Francisco Giants plan to televise 11 games during the 1964 campaign.

There will be nine games with the Dodgers from Los Angeles, plus two exhibition games. The latter are still to be announced.

All games will be over Channel 2, KTVU. The schedule is the same as last year.

Cadets Win J.V. Football Game

San Rafael Military Academy's junior varsity team downed the J.V. gridders from California School for the Deaf in Berkeley, 12-6, yesterday on the S.R. field.

Greg Nickerson threw a 35-yard pass to Skip Rentchler for the first SRMA score and then Robert Bonny ran seven yards for the other tally. Bonny carried 16 times and picked up 127 yards for an even 8.0 average.

S.R., Redwood Rated A Tossup

Bulldogs, Giants Clash In San Rafael Tonight

It should be a tight battle all the way when Redwood and San Rafael high schools meet in a vital Marin Athleic League game tonight at 8 o'clock on the S. R. Bulldogs' field.

The game is rated as a toss-up by the Independent-Journal sports writers. San Rafael is thus far undefeated in MAL action with two wins under its belt. Redwood has one victory and one loss, the defeat at the hands of league-leading Drake.

Redwood coach Bob Troppmann and his assistant Al Endriss will come up with a new backfield for tonight's game. Moving in to the starting quarterback position will be Ed Hutchison, a junior, while Buzz Brice will get the starting nod at wingback. Senior Dave Cox will start at the right halfback spot but junuior Guy Modica will get a lot of action there.

Starting at the fullback spot will be Paul Ackerman, the powerful runner who has picked up 135 yards in 22 carries for the Giants. Warren Curd will take Cox' place as a deep back on defense next to John Little, the other deep back.

In another personnel switch, Bill Kilcoyne has moved from offensive end to the defensive team, and Rick Evans is slated to start at offensive left end in his place.

Troppmann said the Giants' passing game has shown much improvement this past week and much of the week's drills emphasized the air game.

HONORARY CAPTAIN

The team voted Dave Auerbach, Redwood's top back who was injured in the Drake game and taken out for the season, as the honorary captain for tonight's game.

San Rafael head coach Bob Muster is looking to a tough defensive battle when the two teams clash. "We'll have to contain the passing and stop that man (Ackerman) up the middle," he declared.

End Steve Jensen will be back in action after shaking an injury, bringing the team up to full strength.

The Bulldogs have been working primarily on offense this week in hopes of generating a potent attack, both running and passing. Muster reported the Bulldogs will stick to their basic defense.

Muster said he also had a lot of respect for Redwood's kicking game. (Redwood has last year's top punter in the league in Dave Cox, and late reports are that he's getting into last year's form.)

Muster reported that the attitude of the gridders is good and they have had a fine week of practice. All factors considered, the game ought to be a good one.

The San Rafael and Redwood frosh were slated to battle today at 4 p.m. at Redwood High, and the junior varsity teams will tangle today at San Rafael's field at 5:45 p.m.

Probable starting offensive lineups for the varsity:

REDWOOD—Rick Evans, le; Bob Schaeffer, lt; Steve Minutoli, lg; Denny Nolan, c; Dennis Schunk, rg; Jim Carroll, rt; Joel Tobiason, re; Ed Hutchison, qb; Dave Cox, lh; Paul Ackerman, fb; Buzz Bricca, wb.

SAN RAFAEL—Bob Olsen, le; Mike Elliott, lt; Bob Stock, lg; Pat Haven, c; Dan Ahern, rg; Rich Ahern, rt; Gary Palmateer, re; Wade Roberts, qb; Timm Harr, lh; John O'Donnell, fb; John Patrick, rh.

Unbeaten Drake Solid Favorite Over Tam '11'

The undefeated Drake High School gridders will try to make it seven in a row when they take on the Tamalpais High School Indians tonight, 8 o'clock, at College of Marin's field.

The Pirates of Drake sailed through their practice game slate with a 3-0 record and so far in Marin Athletic League play have duplicated that mark.

The Indians of Tamalpais have skidded to a season mark of 0-5, losing their two practice games and their first three tilts in the league.

The game will be broadcast starting at 8 p.m. on Radio Station KTIM-FM, 100.9 on the dial. The live broadcast is sponsored by the KTIM Sportsmen's Club.

Drake has been installed the heavy favorite in the game by I-J football writers who pick the Pirates by three touchdowns.

More bad news came from the Tam camp this week when it was announced Gene Howell will sit out the remainder of the season with a shoulder injury. Also out for the game tonight are defensive end Jim Griffin and tackle Chris DeWees, both with minor injuries.

SQUAD DWINDLES

The latest injuries caused the varsity team to dwindle to only 23 players.

Because of the small number on the Indians' roster, most of the chargers are forced to play both offense and defense. But according to head coach Pete Belden, "the kids are giving their best."

Declared Belden, "I don't care if we only have 11 guys, we'll give them a good game."

The Pirates will start a revamped backfield for tonight's game and the league's leading rusher will not be included. Dean Lazzarini, the sophomore speedster, has recovered from a hip pointer, according to Drake mentor Bob Franceschini, but will not start.

"The more rest he gets the better he will be for the last two games," Franceschini said.

Starting in his place at the halfback slot will be Mike Kemp, usually the starting quarterback. In the starting role at the signal calling spot will be Al Simontacchi who has played behind Kemp, doing a fine job by cashing in on four of nine pass attempts for 63 yards.

Moving to the flanker spot is Dave Cericola and to the fullback spot is Tony Rivera. Normally a flankerback, Mike Crabtree will move up to the line and take over the left end job. Right end will be the league's leading scorer and receiver, Larry Stein.

WISLER OUT

Bill Wisler, a guard who broke his leg in the game against Marin Catholic which forced him to sit out the rest of the season, was the only injury reported by Franceschini.

Franceschini said the move to put Kemp in the halfback spot would add more versatility to the backfield in option plays. He promised that Lazzarini would see some action in the game.

Probably starting offensive lineups:

TAMALPAIS—John George, le; Ernie Bergman, lt; Ken Clark, lg; Creighton Wyatt, c; Roger Buchholz, rg; Bob Washington, rt; Cedric Collett, re; Will Stubblebine, qb; Robin Prosch, lh; Alex Robertson, rh; Ted Carrillo, wb.

Fish in the deep regions of the sea have fantastic lighting effects. Some wear luminous spots along their sides, suggesting lighted portholes in tiny ocean liners. Others have huge glowing eyes and taillights.

TACKLING FUNDAMENTALS — Terra Linda head football coach Pete Limm stresses fundamentals during early season workout by the Trojans. Dave Dohn (44) demonstrates the correct tackling procedure on end Ed Connell (84) while guard Stan Pareto (60) and quarterback Bob Taylor (14) watch. Poreto and Taylor were Preps of the Week for their play last week against Novato. All four boys will see plenty of action tomorrow afternoon against Marin Catholic.

Terra Linda-Marin

Marin Catholic will be going after its first victory of the Marin Athletic League season tomorrow afternoon when it tangles with Terra Linda High School at 2 o'clock on the Terra Linda home field.

It will be a hard one to win for the Wildcats om Marin Catholic, as Terra Linda is flying high with a 2-1 record in the MAL, its lone defeat to first place Drake (3-0). Marin Catholic is 0-2 in league play this year.

Because of the Trojan's fine showing last week against Novato (Terra Linda won 14-0) the boys in blue and gold are favored to win by 13 points over the Wildcats.

A junior varsity clash between the schools will take place on the Trojans' field.

Last Saturday's game at Novato proved costly to the Trojans, according to the list of injuries. Tackle Steve Hildreth will be out for the season because of a head injury and defensive end Bruce Lewis will also sit out the remainder of '63 action because of a broken bone in his wrist.

Defensive end Rich Crozier will miss the M.C. game because of a foot injury, and quarterback Bob Taylor has shaken off a knee injury suffered earlier this week.

"We feel we'll have to play a fine game against Marin Catholic," said Trojan head coach Pete Limm. "Drake beat us by two touchdowns and also beat them (Marin Catholic) by two touchdowns. By comparative scores, the game should be even."

On the Marin Catholic side of the ledger, head coach Doug Damaschino had no injuries to report and was very optimistic about the outcome of tomorrow's game.

"We look forward to winning the rest of our four games," said Damaschino, "starting with Terra Linda."

The M.C. mentor was very pleased with his team's defensive showing against Drake last Saturday, although Drake won, 13-0. He has a right to be proud because it marked the first time the Pirates have been held to less than three touchdowns in six games this year. He cited linebackers Brian Tobin and Bud Almada with most of the tackles in the game.

He said he has inserted some new material and has discarded some of the old in an attempt to bolster the offensive game. He said the defensive platoon, made up mostly of sophs and juniors, gained a lot of confidence because of last week's game.

Probable starting offensive lineups:

Marin Catholic — John Klapperich, le; Len Blissenbach, lt; Bob Jeffrey, lg; Mike Pometta, c; John LaBoyteaux, rg; Pete Donaldson, rt; Larry Weiss, re; Bob Carney, qb; Rick Bacich, lh; Lu Ercolini, rh; Rod Ponath, fb.

Duck Hunters Reminded Again: No Open Season On Cans Or Redheads

STEVENS

Where these rumors start is a mystery, but start they do, and the result is confusion with a capital "C." Yesterday my phone rang and an excited voice asked: "What about cans and redheads? Why haven't you mentioned that it is legal to take three cans and two redhead ducks in the daily bag?" Silly question? Yes! But my caller insisted he had read an item in a newspaper to that effect. I guess I convinced this one fellow that there is no open season on either canvasback ducks or redhead ducks this year. I have cited several official statements released by the Dept. of Fish and Game in several columns, and most other outdoor writers have done the same. "No open season on cans or redheads!" But, if it is true that an item such as my caller quoted did appear in a newspaper; and knowing how many hunters would welcome such news — I'm wondering how many innocent shooters will be banging away at the first can or redhead duck that comes within range. Fortunately, my caller's field of operation is a blind in the upper San Pablo Bay, and my recollection of that area is that the cans seldom drop in at the beginning of the season. So, perhaps by the time the restricted birds do show up, all hunters will know that such an item as supposedly appeared was in error, thereby saving a heap of confusion.

IT'S TOO early to talk about what happened the first day or so of the waterfowl season, so here's a brief summary of the forthcoming pheasant season.

Opening Nov. 23 and running through Dec. 8 in most of the state, six cooperative areas will be operated by the DFG. They are: Grimes, Ryer Island, Tyler Island, Staten Island, Sherman Island and Firebaugh. (Twitchell Island and Merced will not be included this year.)

For the first time, a reservation system will operate on Staten Island, Tyler Island, Sherman Island and Firebaugh, but only for the opening weekend. Reservation tags are attached to 1963 pheasant tags. You may apply only once; if selected you will be notified by mail. To be eligible for the drawing, application must be received by DFG's License Section, 1325-A K Street, Sacramento, by 5 p.m. Nov. 14.

Reservations must be shown at check station by 6 a.m. of hunt day.

Hunting will be on first come, first served basis at Grimes and Ryer Island for the whole season—at the other four co-ops after the opening weekend.

MORE ON the pheasant set-up in a later issue.

Now for the lowdown on fishing . . . The overall picture is dim but a few bright spots appear. Alice Quan of China Camp reported Jack Martin and wife limiting from 6¾ pounds to 17½ pounds; Al Page of Marinwood took a nine-pounder, J. Drucker licked a lunker of 26½ pounds, and Joe Martin of Glenwood landed an 11 pound bass and lost three larger ones on the pilings off Hamilton Field. Alice Quan also mentioned some exceptionally large flounders coming in.

Frank Joseph of Rodeo reported fishing spotty with the majority caught being on the small side but some lunkers taken on bullheads. The boat R.S.P. registered seven limits to 10 pounds on Monday in Racoon Strait, and the Millie Linn reported five bass to five pounds from the upper San Pablo Bay.

No Surprise; Koufax Wins Cy Young Pitching Award

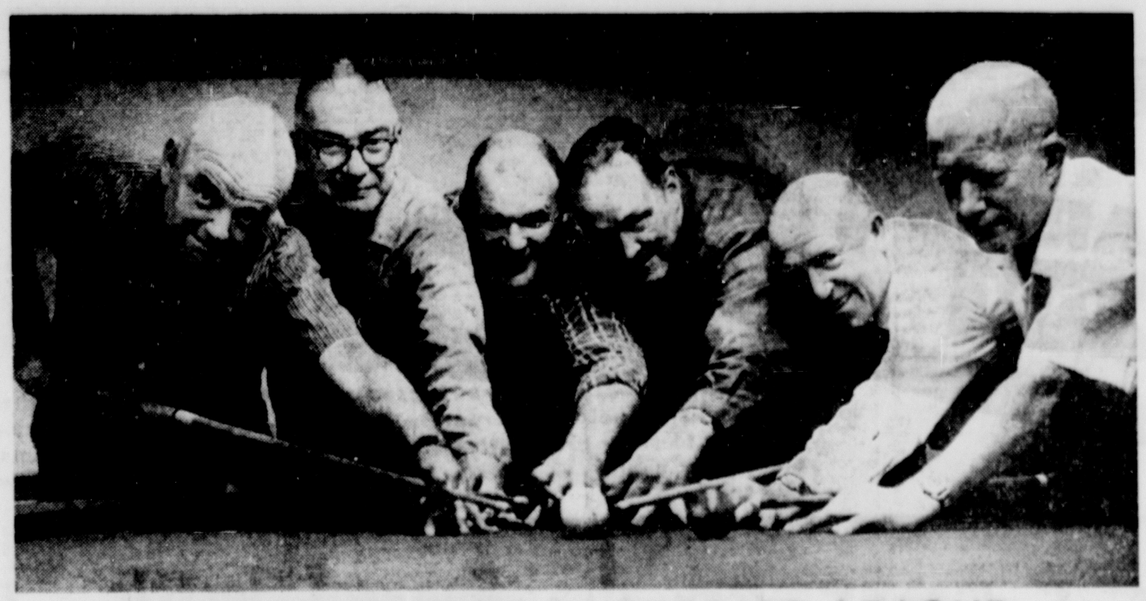

BOSTON (AP) — To the surprise of no one in baseball, Sandy Koufax won the Cy Young Award as the outstanding pitcher in the major leagues.

And just as his team, the Los Angeles Dodgers, swept the World Series from the New York Yankees in four straight games so, too, did the stylish southpaw sweep the voting by the designated committee of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America announced Thursday.

It was Koufax No. 1 on all the 20 ballots case, the first unanimous choice since Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick established the award eight years ago.

The 27-year-old Koufax set a National League record of 306 strikeouts in 311 innings. He won 25 games and lost five.

His achievements included a no-hitter against San Francisco in May and a 1.88 earned run average, the lowest in both leagues.

SAN RAFAEL ELKS IN BILLIARD LEAGUE

These sharp-shooting members of the San Rafael Elks Lodge billiard team played their first official Elks League match last Friday and dueled the San Francisco Lodge to a 3-3 tie. Nevers Remembers The Four Horsemen

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Stanford's Ernie Nevers turned to Notre Dame's Elmer Layden and observed wryly: "I made two of my longest runs that day, both times chasing you."

His observation went back 38 years to New Year's Day of 1925 when the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame beat the Indians of Stanford 27-10 in the Rose Bowl, the only bowl appearance for a Fighting Irish team.

Now for the first time since that date, the Four Horsemen and some of the Stanford players they met have gathered together on the West Coast.

Each of the group has passed the 60-year mark and each of the Horsemen is heavier than during the days when they actually comprised a pony backfield for the great Knute Rockne.

Maybe you can remember. Layden was the fullback at 162 pounds. Halfbacks Don Miller and Jim Crowley each weighed 164, with Harry Stuhldreher the 159-pound quarterback.

Those were the men whom the late Grantland Rice called the Four Horseman after Notre Dame's 1924 team beat Army 13-7 . . . a name that caught on to bring lasting fame to a quartet that would look mighty small compared with some of the 1963 college backfields.

Today in California for Saturday's Notre Dame - Stanford football game, they are:

Layden, 60, weighing 187 and a sales and customer relations executive for a corporation manufacturing and leasing railroad cars in Chicago.

Crowley, 61, now 200 pounds and the executive director of the Industrial Development Commission of Northeast Pennsylvania with headquarters in Scranton.

Miller, 60, and 196, a practicing attorney in Cleveland.

Stuhldreher, 62 and 170, an executive in human relations for the United States Steel Corp., living in Pittsburgh.

In the Rose Bawl game Jan. 1, 1925, they proved too much for Stanford and Nevers, now a 60-year-old public relations executive at a trim 212 pounds and a resident of Tiburon.

Layden intercepted two of Nevers' passes, running 80 and 70 yards for touchdowns with Ernie in pursuit.

All four thank Rice for the Four Horsemen label. Crowley says: "It opened a lot of doors for us," and Miller added: "It was the luckiest day of our lives that day Grantland Rice went to the Polo Grounds. We may not have been the best backfield but we became the best known."

Machen Calls Clay 'Amateur'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Heavyweight boxer Eddie Machen dismissed Cassius Clay as an amateur yesterday in a wire he sent champion Sonny Liston, accusing the titleholder of "fooling around with amateurs."

Machen, on the comeback trail, sent this telegram to Liston:

"It's about time you recognize that I am the only logical opponent for you. Let's give the public a good heavyweight fight and stop fooling around with these amateurs like Cassius Clay. Or are you afraid of a real fighter?"

Top Drivers In $20,000 Auto Race

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Parnelli Jones, winner of the 1963 Indianapolis 500, heads a field of top drivers Sunday in competition for an expected $20,000 purse at the 13th annual USAC national championship auto race.

Fifteen veterans of the Indianapolis Speedway have entered the race, run on the State Fair's one-mile dirt track. The fastest 18 cars in the qualifying runs will start the main event.

Drivers include A. J. Foyt, Rodger Ward, Jim McElreath, Bobby Marshman, Jim Hurtubise, Jimmy Davies and Johnny Rutherford.

Rudolph Sets Pace In Fresno Tourney

FRESNO (AP)—Mason Rudolph and Tommy Aaron, two consistent money-making young pros who have won only one tournament between them, have an excellent chance to double that victory in the $25,000 Fresno Open Golf Tournament.

Rudolph teed off in today's second round with a two-stroke lead over Aaron and Tommy was another three strokes up on the rest of the field following the pair's hot-putting opening rounds.

Six birdie putts of 10 feet or longer helped Rudolph, 29, to a 32-34-66 yesterday over the 7,181-yard, par 36-36-72 San Joaquin Country Club course.

Aaron carded a 33-35-68 while Al Johnston, George Knudson, Chick Evans, Buster Cupit, Roger Ginsberg, Bill Casper and Jack Rule Jr. all deadlocked at one-under-par 71.

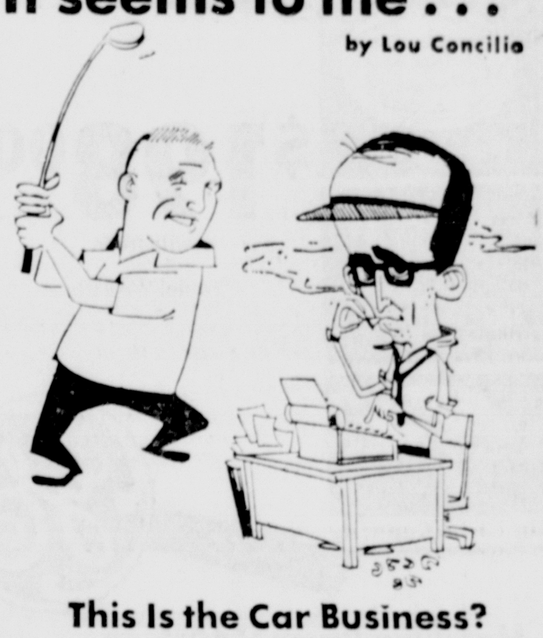

Rudolph, a former Memphis State golfer, now plays out of Lehigh Acres, Fla.

On the tour for nearly five years, he has won only once—at the 1959 Golden Gate Open in San Francisco.

This Is the Car Business?

Some 17 years ago I started my illustrious (?) career in the automobile business. I got my first job by pull, quite naturally. How else could a damp-eared know-nothing get on as a bookkeeper full charge, with one semester of basic debits and credits some five pre-war years earlier his total qualifications for the job? With a manual in one hand and a fresh stock of forms in the other—and plenty of gall (this showed up real early in life). I managed to convince myself I was earning the $46.00 a week my patronizing boss was paying me. The seven-day week helped convince me.

This first job provided the basic training in dealerships for me. Subsequent jobs in California (that first was in Detroit) as office manager, salesman, salesmanager, service manager, assistant and general manager, broadened my horizons, with considerably greater rewards. The $46 became a painful memory. The horizons broadened, but never left completely the restricted boundaries of the automobile business. That is, until my present particularly rewarding association with Ames Ford Sales.

Of late, I get the uneasy feeling the attention I pay to the automotive phase of our business is purely incidental. Now, it's bids and plans and construction and zoning and variances and grading and lighting and layouts and furnishing ad infinitum. Blueprints no longer mystify me. I still can't decipher them, but they don't scare me. And how to stretch 300 front-feet into a massive display area of enclosed and open spaces, together with planter boxes, driveways and sign poles, is really rather simple. So is the guy just committed.

You think the variances in trade-in allowances on the same worn-out clunk that a customer sincerely insists are gospel are way out until you get two bids on the same rather simple construction operation. You begin to wonder if they're talking about the same job in the same language. It's especially frightening to compare the original "guesstimate" with the final bid. With each successive formal bid on yet another facet not previously anticipated, comes the necessity to revise again the mounting total of required investment. It is paradoxically comforting to know the bank is equally concerned.

Fruition is approaching, thankfully. Soon, we can run off the bull-dozers, the draftsman, the carpenters, the roofers, the electricians, the contractors—even, the color consultants, and get down to the business of selling Fords at Ames Ford. That is, if we haven't forgotten how to run our own business by then.

Doug Cowan and I are confident we haven't forgotten, though. Actually, we've been doing a pretty fair job of setting and breaking sales records, even in the face of all these distractions. We've had a fine staff of loyal managers and crew who've responded magnificently to the policies and promotions we've planned in the wee hours . . . the only time left to us by the construction boys.

Our new showroom, used car lot, and expanded area will enable us to serve you better than ever. And we will. Just wait and see.

Slip reduces engine friction 22%!

- It means that a 1962 Falcon got 8% more horsepower with Slip in the engine.
- It means that a 1956 Mercedes-Benz got 2 additional miles per gallon with Slip in the engine.
- It means that a 1962 Plymouth that did the standing quarter mile in 20 seconds did it in 17 seconds with Slip in the engine.
- It means that a 1961 Oldsmobile showed a 61% reduction in bearing wear with Slip in the engine.
- It means these cars, your new car, your old car, any car will run better, faster, give you better economy and last longer with Slip in the engine.

Slip was poured into the engines of these and dozens and dozens of other cars. The results were the same in every test.

Big cars, little cars, expensive cars, old cars, new cars, all started faster, accelerated faster, ran faster, further, on less gas and showed less engine wear with Slip in the engine. (We didn't do all the testing ourselves. We had help from the biggest, most respected independent lubrication testing laboratory in the country.)

How does Slip do it? Slip contains molybdenum disulfide (MoS_2). MoS_2 is the slipperiest lubricant known to man (because of MoS_2, Cadillacs never need chassis lubrications).

Slip is the only product of its kind that holds MoS_2 in perfect colloidal suspension. It's homogenized. Slip is compatible with all motor oils. Slip will not clog oil filters. Slip will not build up deposits.

Pour Slip into your engine and millions of particles of MoS_2 plate themselves to the cylinder walls and all moving parts as you drive. This, in effect, makes the motor oil slipperier and helps your engine work easier. You'll feel a difference in your car within 300 miles.

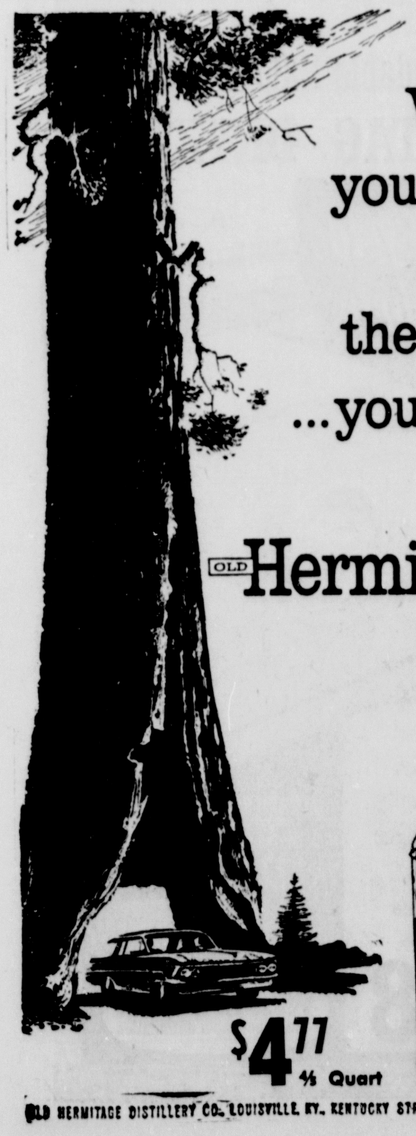

One thing. Don't confuse Slip with additives. Slip is not an additive. Slip treats your engine, not your oil. And Slip lasts through oil changes—up to 6,000 miles.

The average motorist will spend $5.38 a year for Slip and save over $15.00 in gas bills alone. Where else can you get 3 to 1 for your money just by asking for it? Slip is at service stations, car dealers and auto supply stores now. Ask for it.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

Military Academy Mothers Hear Talk By Noted Attorney

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

J. W. (Jake) Ehrlich, famed as a criminal lawyer and author, whose address to the San Rafael Military Academy Mothers Club, was supposed to be about divorce, was mostly about the cadets at the academy. He gave advice to the mothers at a luncheon Wednesday in the Colonial Ballroom of the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco.

The attorney said he had several divorce cases and had been involved in litigation not concerned with criminal law, but he quoted excerpts from the Bible, constitution and the bill of rights which provide that every citizen has the right to vote regardless of his race color or creed. The speaker also said that every citizen is granted freedom of thought and the right for counsel to protect himself when charged with a crime. Of great value is the freedom of the press. The lawyer added that this is only true in democratic countries.

He said he had voted for the man who is now in the White House, not because of his politics, but because every man has the right to vote and hold office.

I rode over to San Francisco with Mrs. Howard Good, who also had with her, her daughter, Mrs. Norman Ciampi, (Valerie Good). Others who had made reservations were Mesdames Al Agnew Jr., Wishard Brown, Jack L. Blaine, Paul Ciampi, Sidney Cohn, Frederich Dietrich, M. G. Ferrin, Sidney Cohn, P. S. Harless, Betty Hutton, James Kephart, John Lesoine, Jean Rose Levey, Ann Mulvin, Donald Murray, John Merlo, Charles Pollock, Robert Reynolds, Yiwen Tang, Mariana Townsend, Dante Tognoli, Walter Wright and George Schirmer.

MASTER ARRANGER AT WORK

Master flower arranger Tatsuo Fijioka completes an arrangement at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley, where he was the guest speaker yesterday for a capacity group of the club. Mrs. William Pemberton, one of the members known for their talent at arranging, questions Mr. Fijioka on how he achieves the effects in this "nature scene" arrangement. Its natural setting, he said, might be at the foot of the waterfall in the sumi painting he did which hangs on the wall behind them.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Right Of People To Know Slipped Mill Valley Minds

There have been strange goings-on lately among Mill Valley's "official family."

In fact, it would seem there have been some rather strange goings-on for quite a long time.

The lid blew off, as the saying is, late last month. That was when longtime City Mgr. A. E. Almcrants submitted his resignation.

It blew so high, and with so much support for Almcrants, that he took the resignation back again.

But a majority of the city council laid down an ultimatium: quit or be fired! Last Monday night, Almcrants resigned again—with a sort of delayed-action resignation effective Dec. 31 or later.

Our reporter on the scene estimated 250 people jammed into the Mill Valley City Hall. The fire chief turned away many more who arrived after 7:30 p. m. —a half-hour ahead of meeting time.

Somehow, we can't quite believe all this many people go so stirred up about firing of the city manager.

Almcrants is doubtless a popular man in Mill Valley—a city he has served for 15 years. If the question were put to the people, "Shall Almcrants stay or shall we try a new city manager?" we suspect Al would win hands-down.

But discharging a city manager—even a popular one—does not stir up such a hornet's nest all by itself.

It seems to us the Almcrants firing was the culmination of a number of goings-on in the Mill Valley City Hall (and across the bay in Franklin Hospital) that disturbed Mill Valleyans. Evidence that there were things amiss in their city government kept piling up.

When the city manager got the ax, their pent-up dissatisfaction exploded.

It is going to take a lot of time and effort to quiet the Mill Valley City Hall down again. And the whole affair has been unnecessary.

We suspect most or all of the disruption could have been avoided had the city council borne in mind these words contained in a section of the California Government Code (which is still state law, despite "interpretations" to the contrary):

"The people, in delegating authority, do not give their public servants the right to decide what is good for the people to know and what is not good for them to know. The people insist on remaining informed so that they may retain control over the instruments they have created."

If You Have A Belt, Use It

With gruesome regularity, Marin County reports from the California Highway Patrol contain sentences such as this:

"The patrolman reported that the victim probably would have survived the crash if he had been wearing his seat belt."

Note that an increasing number of the reports specify that there was a seat belt, not used. In a way this is considerably worse than the former situation where a victim wouldn't have been thrown out of the car or through the windshield if he had been wearing a belt but there was none.

Safety belts are not the whole answer to accidents—nothing ever can be. But they help in a majority of instances. The patrolmen who investigate these accidents have safety belts and they use them.

Experienced long-distance motorists never spurn the belt as too bothersome. They know it not only protects them but is a comfort aid to body muscles.

OFF-YEAR ELECTIONS NEAR

Key Tests For Republicans Are Expected In South

WASHINGTON—Governorships in Kentucky and Mississippi, legislatures in Kentucky, Mississippi, Virginia and New Jersey, mayors in 25 major cities and several crucial referendums and bond issues will be decided by U.S. voters in next month's off-year elections.

The Kentucky and Mississippi gubernatorial elections will be key tests of Republican strength in the South and the impact of the civil rights crisis on Southern voting.

In the North, the contest for mayor of Philadelphia may reflect incipient white protest against the backing which the Northern Democratic party has been lending to the drive for equal rights for Negroes.

OTHER large cities which will elect mayors include San Francisco, Boston, San Diego, Houston, Indianapolis, New Haven, Salt Lake City, Columbus and Memphis.

Major bond issues will be presented to the voters in New Jersey, where the prestige of Gov. Richard J. Hughes (D) is on the line, and in Ohio, where Gov. James A. Rhodes (R) is dependent on bond revenues to prevent tax increases he is pledged to avoid.

In Texas, voters are being asked to abolish the $1.75 poll tax prior to approval of a proposed constitutional amendment outlawing all U.S. poll taxes. And Pennsylvania citizens are being called on to approve calling a 1964 convention to rewrite the state's 89-year-old constitution.

SPECIAL ELECTIONS for the U.S. House of Representatives will be held Nov. 5 in the Pennsylvania 23rd District (North Central), which Republicans expect to hold, and Nov. 9 in the Texas 10th District (Central - Austin), where Democrats are favored to maintain their traditional control.

The fiercely contested battle for governor of Kentucky pitches Edward T. (Ned) Breathitt (D), who trounced former Gov. (and former baseball commissioner) A. B. (Happy) Chandler (D) in the Democratic primary, against Louis B. Nunn (R). Chief issue of the campaign has been an executive order by outgoing Gov. Bert T. Combs (D) outlawing racial discrimination in Kentucky public accommodations.

Republicans in Mississippi are waging their first serious gubernatorial campaign since Reconstruction days. But GOP candidate Rubel Phillips, a former Democrat, is rated an underdog to Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson (D), one of Mississippi's most vocal segregationists. Republican hopes received a blow when Johnson defeated a more moderate Democrat in the primary election.

PHILLIPS campaigns as a conservative segregationist, stressing his opposition to the Kennedy Administration. His posters proclaim, "Rubel '63, Barry '64." The energetic GOP campaign has roused the long dominant Democrats to their first active general election campaign in the century.

Even if they lose their attempt at the governorship, Republicans hope to pick up some legislature seats. Currently they have no Senate seats whatever and only one in the House.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Ferries Give A Good Answer

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Cheers for Supervisor Behr's suggestion to the Golden Gate Bridge directors concerning the possible use of ferries as perhaps the best solution to the Marin commuter problem.

It is a tragic waste to continue to ignore this natural highway which could be a relatively immediate answer to our commuter problems, in favor of the creation of another bridge ten years from now.

Further, the new bridge (or new deck) answers only a small part of the problem; more freeway and more access roads would be required.

The bridge directors know that the monumental problems in building a new bridge or adding a new deck involve years of planning and costly land acquisition and construction, when the problem must be solved now. Moreover, the directors should profit from California's experience in metropolitan freeway construction, where commuter highways are outmoded by the time they are completed.

We have to own up to the fact that we cannot keep ahead of increasing commuter traffic by building more freeways, or bridges for that matter. A transportation system must be employed which is economical, flexible and immediate.

Freeways will never meet any of these requirements; use of the Bay, however, may well be the answer.

Richardson Bay's Beauty Marred

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In crossing the Golden Gate to Marin, one experiences a most spectacular transition from a dramatic cityscape to the rugged cliffs of the coastline just north of the bridge.

As one ascends Waldo Grade, the vistas of the Bay Area are unsurpassed in their beauty. In descending the Waldo Grade, with a critical eye, one scans what Marin residents at one time considered a beautiful Richardson Bay.

Today the bay has a multitude of unsightly tenants clinging to her shoreline. Chaos reigns supreme and uncontrolled development runs rampant!!! The once serence and tranquil body of water is now being violated unmercifully by greedy and very unperceptive individuals and groups of same.

A jutting and very unsightly Kappas Yacht Basin visually and physically pinches the bay into two distinct areas and disrupts its spacial and linear qualities. Slightly to the north, one is greeted by a garishly painted tugboat and its ever expanding progeny.

Approaching the Richardson Bay Bridge is found an air excursion service, a sports car repair center, a Greyhound bus storage area, and various other activities which lend to the total state of confusion which shrouds the area.

In addition, there is proposed a large floating motel-apartment complex which is programmed to extend out into the bay south of the bridge.

There is north of the bridge a waterfowl refuge which originally was set aside as the exclusive domain of wild duck and other migratory birds. Looming in the near future is a marine basin and several "townhouse" apartment complexes.

It is the opinion of this writer that Richardson Bay should be acquired by the appropriate governmental agency as an open and undeveloped recreational area. All existing facilities and activities be condemned, acquired by the law of eminent domain, and the rehabilitation of the bay back to her majestic native state commence as soon as possible.

Permitting the entrance to Marin and the Redwood Empire to become an indefinable and confused sprawling mass would be an unforgivable crime for which all of us would shoulder the blame. Development is still in a rather embryonic stage and with proper and intelligent guidance, most of our planning problems can be resolved in a satisfactory and aesthetic manner.

It is our responsibility to accept the challenge and take the bit in our collective mouths.

A Country Doctor Receives Thanks

Editor, Independent-Journal:

How do you really say "thanks" to your family doctor when you think he is a pretty good fellow and an asset to the community?

We always pay our bill, we try not to get sick outside of office hours, we even manage to tell him "thanks" after he has given us a shot of antibiotics in the . . . But, that is another story.

Sometime we wish we could go talk to him even when we aren't sick because, he is such a happy soul. He is too busy for that though.

And, so that everyone may know, Dr. Plattes, of Pt. Reyes Station, we do publicly thank you for your services and sparkling personality. And again, "thanks."

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

The terrible-tempered scion of an old Virginia family got as far North as Boston on a motor trip and dropped in for luncheon at a Boylston Street restaurant. Near the end of his repast he summoned the proprietor and inquired icily, "Tell me, my good man: is not Boston the place where they dumped the tea in the harbor?" "Of course," said the proprietor. "Good," nodded the Southern gentleman. "I suggest that you now follow the same procedure with your coffee."

Author-producer Nunnally Johnson is a city man first, last, and all the time. Told that he might inherit a forty-acre estate in the country, Johnson promised, "If I get it, I'll have the whole thing paved."

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Atty. John G. Buresh of San Rafael resigned his chairmanship of the Marin Republican Central Committee after two years' incumbency, due to pressure of private business.

Sen. John F. McCarthy announced plans for a multi-use building to house fair exhibits, serve as auditorium and double as an armory, as solution of "the county's fairgrounds problem."

20 YEARS AGO

With volunteer airplane spotting at an end, the Coast Guard Auxiliary called for more members willing to serve 12 hours weekly on patrol of bay waters.

A new courthouse "work room" for staffs of County Assessor George W. Hall and Tax Collector Frank Donohue was approved by county supervisors.

The City of Fairfax became outright owner of Cascades Park, tax delinquent for several years after being part of a landscaping project of a subdivision.

New Hampshire Primary Could Be Vital To Nomination

WASHINGTON — Barry Goldwater and Nelson Rockefeller will soon be engaged in a head-on confrontation in the New Hampshire primary.

It is a little primary—only 14 delegates at stake—with a big result.

It could put Rockefeller out of the race. It could put Goldwater within an inch of the Republican nomination.

TWO QUESTIONS:

Why is a Rockefeller victory in New Hampshire crucial if the governor is to have any chance of winning the nomination?

Why is Sen. Goldwater a more formidable candidate—for the nomination — than Sen. Robert A. Taft, who had it within arm's reach on three different occasions? In 1952, for example, Mr. Taft went into the Chicago convention with a lead of more than 100 committed delegates over his nearest rival, Gen. Eisenhower.

On the surface, the 1964 Republican contest looks similar to the Taft-Willkie contest in 1940 or the Taft-Dewey, Taft-Eisenhower contests of 1948 and 1952. In each of these, Taft always appeared to be in the lead but could never pull it off.

THE ANSWERS as to why Rockefeller has to win in New Hampshire even to stay in the race and why Goldwater is in a much stronger position today than Taft ever was are directly related.

Like Taft in all of his quests for the Presidential nomination, Sen. Goldwater takes an early lead in organization support and in the backing of his congressional colleagues.

He is the Republican party's Organization Man. His advocates could fairly argue that he "deserves" the nomination because of his standing in the party.

But there was a powerful, practical argument which was always Taft's undoing. The argument was that, however much he might "deserve" the nomination, he couldn't win —that Willkie would run better, that Dewey would run better, that Eisenhower would run better. This argument prevailed.

REPUBLICAN opponents make the same argument against Goldwater as they made against Taft: Goldwater can't win.

But this time—and certainly at this stage—the argument has an empty ring. Not because there is any certainty that any other Republican nominee would run any better.

This is why Sen. Goldwater has a much better chance of getting the nomination than Sen. Taft ever had. Willkie, Dewey, and Eisenhower all looked like vote-getting candidates.

Taft could not effectively turn the non-electability argument against them because Willkie, Dewey, and Eisenhower all had an aura of victory about them.

BUT GOLDWATER can turn the argument around. To his opponents, who argue that Goldwater can't win, he can reply, as Taft couldn't:

"Perhaps not, but what evidence is there that any other candidate can run a better race? What evidence is there that Rockefeller or Scranton would do any better against President Kennedy than I would?"

This is what gives Goldwater a better chance of getting the nomination than Taft — who came so near to it so many times. The circumstances are more favorable to Goldwater than they were to Taft.

Each time Taft had at least one formidable opponent. At this stage Goldwater has no formidable opponent.

UNLESS Rockefeller recovers his political momentum in New Hampshire, he's out of the running. Unlike Taft and Goldwater, Mr. Rockefeller has never been the favorite of the Republican organization.

He could get the nomination only by demonstrating such evident voter support that the professionals would not dare turn him down. This is the reason the New Hampshire primary is crucial to his prospects.

For Rockefeller, New Hampshire will provide either the beginning of a slow upturn—or sudden death.

THE ALLEN-SCOTT REPORT

Soviet's Newest Space Shot May Be A World Rocker

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Russia is secretly preparing to fire a new space shot that will shake the world.

This jarring event, which could lead to tipping the balance of military power from the U.S. to Russia, will be the orbiting of a huge space platform.

The launching of this first space platform is scheduled to take place before the end of 1963—probably in December. The platform, weighing several tons, is to be put into orbit 150 to 300 miles above the earth.

THAT'S THE jolting intelligence estimate the House Aeronautics and Space Committee has received from administration authorities.

Reliable committee sources report that the estimate bluntly warns the platform will be large enough to house several cosmonauts or nuclear weapons—depending on how the Soviets plan to use their deadly space vehicle.

One of the most exciting technological aspects of this space exploration will be the maneuvering by other Russian satellites to pick up and take off cosmonauts from the platform.

Already, the Soviets have succeeded in bringing two manned satellites within six miles of each other in space —a major feat that the U.S. has not been able to accomplish.

U.S. INTELLIGENCE experts stress that the Soviet space platform launching is definitely a forerunner to a Russian moon shot. The latter is expected to take place in 1967—the 50th anniversary of the U.S.S.R. — and three full years before the target date for the U.S. moon landing.

A worldwide propaganda buildup for this Russian space spectacular is about to get underway, according to U.S. Intelligence sources.

These experts in Soviet plans report that within the past five weeks an editor, of one of the big U.S. Sunday newspaper supplements was invited to Moscow and given photographs of the U.S.S.R. moon program — pictures never before shown outside of high Soviet circles.

THE EDITOR, a leading advocate of U.S.-Russian cooperation in communications and weather, is planning an article plugging for more U.S.-Russian space cooperation — including the joint moon program advocated by President Kennedy.

The Russian space platform will have major military significance, although Moscow and Washington can be expected to play this down.

Academician Anatoly A. Blagonravov, chairman of the Commission on Exploration and Utilization of Outer Space of the Academy of Sciences of the U.S.S.R., recently revealed the military use of these platforms to a group of U.S. scientists and officials.

ART BUCHWALD

Should A Presidential Aspirant Tip Ex-President On Views?

WASHINGTON — Last week we read that Sen. Barry Goldwater had agreed to tell President Eisenhower where he stands on major political issues, providing the senator decides to run as the Republican candidate for president of the United States.

But the next day we read that Goldwater had denied making such a deal with President Eisenhower.

At his press conference not long ago President Kennedy insisted that President Eisenhower should know where Sen. Goldwater stood just by what he's been saying, but so far President Eisenhower has admitted he's confused.

THE QUESTION is: Should a presidential candidate tell a former President of the United States his political views, or should he keep them to himself so he doesn't confuse the issues?

We put the question to another hard-running politician, Barry Nelson Goldfeller, who has been traveling all over the United States, denying he is a candidate for the highest office of the land.

"Sir," we said, "do you feel President Eisenhower should know what your political views are if you decide to run for president?"

'Certainly not. A man's political views are sacred and he should only reveal them to his doctor or his minister."

"BUT the reason why President Eisenhower wants to know your views is that he wants to know if he can support you in the campaign."

"I can appreciate President Eisenhower's position and I would certainly like to tell him where I stand. But President Eisenhower has many friends and, if I told him, he might tell somebody else and they might tell somebody else, and pretty soon everyone would know where I stood. I couldn't afford that."

"Couldn't you tell President Eisenhower it was a secret? I'm sure he wouldn't tell anyone if he thought it would hurt you."

"I'VE THOUGHT about it," Mr. Goldfeller said, "and I've been sorely tempted to tell him a few things I'm for, such as motherhood, the American flag, and more dams for Arizona, but President Eisenhower wants to know where I stand on everything.

"That's asking an awful lot of somebody running for public office. When President Eisenhower announced he was running, President Hoover did not ask him where he stood."

"That's true," we admitted.

"I'd be very happy to tell President Eisenhower what I'm against," Mr. Goldfeller said.

"What are you against?"

"GOVERNMENT spending, Castro, Bobby Kennedy, the New Frontiers, the graduated income tax, the United Nations, peace with Russia, atom test treaties, and more water for California."

"That's quite good. Then what are you for?"

"I'm not going to tell you. I think the public should be concerned with what a candidate is opposed to rather than what he is for. Anyone can be for something, but it takes a real politician to be against everything."

"I think my record speaks for itself."

"MR GOLDFELLER, would you be willing to put your views in a sealed envelope and let President Eisenhower open it on election night?"

"I haven't thought about that," he replied. "It might be a good compromise."

"I think it would be worth trying," we said. "And it would give President Eisenhower something to look forward to in 1964."

CAPITOL QUOTES

By Capitol News Service

Att. Gen. Stanley Mosk; on breakfast, lunch or dinner meetings of city councils: "The holding of such 'non-meetings' constituted a loophole . . . Subsequent public meetings are a mockery, a mere formality and a repetition of matters already decided in the pre-public meetings."

Dr. Max Rafferty: "I hate racial prejudice but I don't believe we are going to eliminate it by creating an artificial ratio of Negro to caucasian students in schools by bussing them around."

Dr. Malcolm Merrill, director of public health: "There is no acute toxicity hazard to people from consumption of pheasants to be taken in the coming hunting season due to DDT accumulation."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By FRANK FARRARA

If At First You Don't Succeed, It's Simple—Quit, Quit Again

CIVIL SERVICE rules to the contrary, it's not how a man does his job that counts, it's how he resigns.

A rash of Marin County public officials have resigned in recent months, some quietly and others . . . well, just remember Mill Valley.

If resignations continue to cause turmoil in local communities, future applicants for a city manager's job may undergo interviews such as follows:

MAYOR — Tell us, Jones. What jobs have you held?

JONES—Assistant planner for three years, planner for two years and city manager for the past five years.

MAYOR—That seems to be adequate. Now tell us, did you ever resign from any of these jobs?

JONES — No. I just kept getting promoted.

MAYOR—That's too bad.

JONES — What do you mean?

MAYOR—Well, we're looking for a man who has experience in resigning.

JONES — Hmmm. I'll have to resign to take this job.

MAYOR — Yes, but you have no past record in that field. How do we know you'll handle it.

JONES—I'll just quit . . . give them fair notice and quit.

MAYOR — It's not that easy, you know.

JONES — What's so tough about quitting? Even Red Hickey quit . . . and the secretary of the Navy . . . and Al Almcrants.

MAYOR—Please . . . please . . . this has been a pleasant interview so far . . .

JONES—Oh yes, I forgot. We studied Alcran . . . I mean his case at public administration school. It was a classic.

MAYOR—Let's take another approach. Were you popular with the people in the city where you worked?

JONES—Not very. In fact, there were a few groups that want to run me out of town.

MAYOR—Fine, fine . . . a good recommendation. It's hard to get rid of a man who's popular.

JONES — I don't understand, mayor. Why all this emphasis on leaving the job? I haven't even gotten it yet.

MAYOR—The old rule of first things first is out in this case. With us, it's last things first. You might say we're looking ahead.

Now, another thing, how are you getting along with your city council?

JONES — Fairly well. I've done just about everything they've asked.

MAYOR — That's too bad. We want a man who disobeys us once in a while so we can build up a case for firing him . . . just in case he doesn't resign in good grace.

JONES — Under these circumstances mayor, I cannot accept the job.

MAYOR—That's it . . . a great spirit of disagreement already . . . you're hired.

JONES—I resign.

MAYOR—Bravo . . . good show . . . you're our man. You'll make a great resigner.

And don't forget, if you don't succeed at first, quit, quit again.

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFED SHEINWOLD

Bridge Would Be Wonderful Game Without Any Partners

I am normally so serene that many of my bridge friends call me the Sweet Old Boy, which they sometimes abbreviate by just using the initials. The only thing that sets me to breaking furniture is a bad bid or play by my partner that traps me into making a mistake. I can get into enough trouble all by myself without needing a partnert o push me off a cliff.

Bridge would be a wonderful game if it weren't for partners.

WEST OPENS

West opened the queen of diamonds. East took the ace of diamonds and returned a diamond.

South won with the king of diamonds and led an innocent five of clubs. West played low, and declarer climbed right up with dummy's king.

Now South could afford to lose a spade and a heart, scoring game and rubber.

"What's the matter?" East asked caustically. "Too lazy to take your ace of clubs when you had a chance?"

WRONG CULPRIT

East should have bitten his tongue before complaining. As Marshall Miles points out in The Bridge World, East was the culprit.

East could see that he was going to win a diamond, a spade and a heart. The contract would be beaten automatically if West had a spade or heart trick. It would be beaten if West had the ace of clubs, provided that West took the ace.

East should make sure of the ace of clubs by returning a low club at the second trick. This forces West to take the ace, and then East can sit back and wait for his tricks.

When East failed to return a club it was impossible for West to know that one club trick would defeat the contract. West had to play a low club in the hope that South would lose two club tricks by misguessing, with two low clubs in his hand.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Lightface type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Oct. 25, the 298th day of 1963 with 67 to follow.

The moon is at first quarter. The morning star is Jupiter. The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1854, the "Charge of the Light Brigade" was made. About 670 men of an English light cavalry brigade fighting in the Crimean War charged a heavily protected Russian artillery post.

In 1936, the Fascist governments of Germany and Italy formed the "Rome - Berlin Axis," providing for common opposition to communism and mutual assistance in case of war.

A thought for the day—German poet Johann Goethe said: "He only earns his freedom and existence who daily conquers them anew."

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

X F Y Z Y B X H S X G Y B B S B V H A S X X Y G N V N Y A. — B V G W Z E A O

The cost of printing the bonds will be borne by the district.

RIGHT OF REJECTION: Said Board of Supervisors reserves the right in its discretion to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

FORM OF BID: All bids must be for not less than all of the bonds hereby offered for sale, and for not less than the par value thereof and accrued interest to date of delivery. Such bids, together with bidder's check, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Board of Supervisors of said County and endorsed "Proposal for School Bonds of Dixie School District of Marin County."

BID CHECK: With each bid must be submitted a certified check or cashier's check for $1,000.00 drawn on a bank or trust company transacting business in the State of California, payable to the order of the County Treasurer, to secure said school district from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. In addition, bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the district on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the district. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the County Clerk by mail, upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon deposit made by the successful bidder.

There is no controversy or litigation pending or threatened concerning the validity of the above issue, the corporate existence of said district or the title of the officers to their respective offices and the Board of Supervisors will deliver to the successful bidder a no-litigation certificate certifying to the foregoing as of and at the time of the delivery of the bonds. HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Swooning Not Very Healthy Form Of Parlor Game In Great Britain

VAN DELLEN

Swooning is the latest parlor game in Great Britain. It is accomplished by holding the breath until unconscious. Physicians are beginning to see the untoward effects of this dangerous "fainting lark" or "mess trick" as it is called. Two skulls were cracked from sudden falls. Prolonged fainting also leads to an excessive accumulation of fluid in the lungs and to neurological symptoms. Boys will be boys, but those who land in the hospital never repeat the prank.

Many physicians use surgical scotch tape instead of stitches to close wounds. It is quick, painless, and almost as easy to apply as the tape employed to bind papers.

I WAS TOLD recently that one of the major air lines staggers the meal times for the pilot and other members of the flight crew. On long trips, the pilot may eat his lunch at noon, the co-pilot at 1 p.m., and the flight engineer at 2 p.m.

This is done in case food poisoning occurs. There would be chaos if everyone up front suddenly developed nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea and went into shock. And the passengers could be in the same condition because the meals come from a common source. Nothing like this has happened, to my knowledge, as the air lines see to it that food is prepared and served carefully.

MONKEYS BECOME addicted to smoking within a few days. A New York research team learned this by giving them free access to sucking tubes. Each set produced either cigarette smoke or plain warm air of the same temperature.

The animals received tobacco on the first two days and hot air for the next two days. The cycle was repeated for six weeks and it became obvious within a short time that they preferred nicotine smoke. In a second experiment, they were given the choice of sucking on a tube holding a lighted cigarette or an unlighted cigarette; they preferred the lighted one.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

CERVICAL DISK

E. D. writes: I went to my doctor because of pain in the neck and X-rays showed a gap in my spine due to "degenerative cervical disk." Can something be done about this gap?

REPLY

Yes. Many physicians suggest a trial of physical therapy and a neck brace. Surgery is recommended should conservative measures fail and there is great discomfort.

CROPS OF BLISTERS

S. J. T. writes: Is pemphigus caused by diet, allergy, or what?

REPLY

The cause of this disease is not known. It usually was fatal until the discovery of the corticosteroids. The outward manifestations of this internal disorder are water blisters of varying sizes.

ROUGHNECKS

V. D. writes: I'm from the country where everyone is good. What is a teen-age delinquent?

REPLY

A boy or girl who never learned that life expects a certain amount of discipline. Juvenile delinquents come from rural areas as well as from crowded cities.

MAKE IT WHOLE

J. H. writes: I have two boys, ages 7 and 2. I want them to drink skim milk for their health's sake but my wife insists they need whole milk. What is your opinion?

REPLY

Whole milk is better for young children even though the fat content is higher.

Today's Health Hint—Stress honest and trustworthiness in rearing your child.

Non-Red Viet Opposition Growing

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — In a corner of a dimly lit barroom, a young Vietnamese whispers a contemptuous remark about the government.

His companion asks with alarm: "Are you a VC?"

"That's the way everyone refers to the Viet Cong Communists."

"No," says the first, with a grin. "I'm just a Buddhist." He is not really a Buddhist, but his reply points up what President Ngo Dinh Diem, his brother Ngo Dinh Nhu and their regime have done for themselves.

Diem has brought to real life the specter he feared most—a non-Communist opposition. The Buddhist affair has provided a rallying cause.

Buddhist leaders who oppose the government have been silenced or jailed. The only leaders remaining who can speak for their brethren are those known as the "tame Buddhists"—people who do not oppose the regime.

Like almost everything else in this mixed-up land, the Buddhist question is befogged by a cloud of contradictions.

Is this a religious issue? There are those who will tell you Buddhism is not a religion in the first place but a moral system. Buddha did not found a church.

The president is a Roman Catholic. His elder brother is archbishop of Hue, in central Viet Nam, where the Buddhist crisis began in May. The government dug up an old law at the time the Buddhists were celebrating the birthday of Lord Buddha, and forbade them from flying Buddhist flags.

Only government flags would be permitted. Police went about Hue taking flags down. Buddhists staged a protest demonstration. The government broke it up, and — either from concussion grenades or police bullets—eight or nine persons were killed.

In the precepts of Buddhism, killing a creature is a great wrong. Yet, an aged Buddhist priest seated himself at a busy Saigon intersection, let himself be doused with gasoline and set fire to himself.

His flaming suicide became a symbol of Buddhist protest. Four more monks and a nun followed his example later.

It is difficult to say how many Buddhists live in South Viet Nam and whether they truly make up a majority.

In all Viet Nam — north and south — there are 15 million who might call themselves Buddhists, according to a French authority. The majority of practicing Buddhists may now be in South Viet Nam, where there are about 1.5 million Catholics. But what kind of Buddhists are these?

Mai Tho Truyen, president of the Saigon Buddhist Assn., says Buddhism over the years became a hodgepodge of many things, merging with Taoism, Confucianism, animism and polytheism.

Buddhism was stronger in Tonkin—North Viet Nam — than it was in Annam. Many Annamites who call themselves Buddhists never performed an act of Buddhism in their lives, says Mai Tho Truyen. They do, however, have the oriental respect for the temple.

Thus, when government forces raided the Xa Loi pagoda in Saigon, it sent a shock wave through the capital and other cities. People who seldom paid any attention to the faith began calling themselves Buddhists. Students took up the cause.

The more the government tried to repress the Buddhists, the more it got itself into hot water, and the more repression seemed to be needed.

Diem and his brother Nhu seem interested primarily in security. This means cracking down on any breath of opposition, no matter what its label.

The regime has tried to place the "leftist" and even "Communist" label on the Buddhists. Few give it any credence.

In fact, most politically aware people in Saigon are convinced that the regime would be just as harsh on a Roman Catholic should the Catholic show signs of opposing the government. Some have felt the regime's hand in the past.

The full effects of the regime's clash with the Buddhists may not have been felt yet. The opposition it has rallied remains silent for the moment in a situation of extraordinarily tight and efficient police state control. If and when resentment bursts forth, there is a good chance it will be much more than a Buddhist explosion.

like looking for someone who doesn't read newspapers

Very hard to find. 99 million people in almost 9 out of every 10 homes read newspapers. It's the most sought after, often bought, eagerly consumed, intensely depended upon product in the world. The reason is obvious. We can't do without it. The need to know about the news and events that touch and shape our lives is deep, intense, unending. And the need to know is now. Today. So it's not very hard to figure out why more advertising dollars are spent in daily newspapers than in TV, magazines, radio, and outdoor combined.

William Bennett, chairman of the California Public Utilities Commission, will speak on "How the Bodega Bay Nuclear Power Plant Would Affect Marin County" at a meeting of the Marin County council of mayors and councilmen Wednesday at the Sausalito Yacht Club.

Sausalito, as host city, is inviting mayors and councilmen to meet at 6:30 p.m. on a tour aboard Russ Lewis' tour boat leaving from the sandspit near Spinnaker restaurant. The boat will depart on a short cruise, weather permitting, at 6:45 p.m. Dinner will be at 7:30 p.m. at the yacht club.

Classic Films Due At College

The second presentation in the College of Marin Art Club's "Profile II" film series will be two comedies, "42nd Street" and "Room Service," to be shown Oct. 26 at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall.

Story Of Success, Marriage Due

By LES DARD

Here's the rundown on Marin County's movie fare, current and coming:

TAMALPAIS THEATER

What success does to a marriage is developed into high humor in "Wives and Lovers," a wordly domestic comedy opening on Sunday.

Van Johnson plays a struggling author who suddenly hits the jackpot when his new novel becomes Book of the Month, a Broadway play and a movie. He moves his wife and little daughter to an expensive suburb, embraces a new social set and new values.

He then falls under the spell of his high-pressure, ultra-chic agent, Martha Hyer. Neglected wife Janet Leigh, long-suffering at first, decides her husband is cheating and bolsters her morale by accepting the attentions of the star of her husband's play, Jeremy Slate.

The lion's share of the witty lines goes to Shelley Winters, who plays a seasoned divorcee and a ready source of hard-bitten advice for Miss Leigh. Ray Walston has some funny scenes as her boy friend, as does child actress Clair Wilcox.

RAFAEL THEATER

A racy comedy with the fashion industry as its center arrives Sunday with "A New Kind of Love." Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward play the principals.

Newman plays a newspaper columnist sent to Paris after an affair with his boss's wife. Miss Woodward accompanies her boss, dress manufacturer George Tobias, and co-worker Thelma Ritter to Paris for the fashion showings.

Miss Woodward, recovering from an unfortunate romance, wears mannish clothes and seemingly hates men. But after being directed to men's rooms and even approached by a Paris streetwalker, she decides the time has come to change all this.

This is particularly apt because she's set her feminine cap for Newman, stylized Hollywood newsman whose chief interests are booze and blondes.

Miss Woodward's new look fools Newman. She emerges from a beauty treatment looking like a tart, which seems to please him. Her tales of imaginary experiences as an expensive call-girl make spicy material for his column.

We're also treated to some delightful moments with Maurice Chevalier, who sings a medley of his old favorites like "Mimi" and "Valentine" for a group of unmarried females on St. Catherine's day, celebrated in France by mass man-hunting.

For adults.

LARK THEATER

"Black Orpheus," a true work of art which captured the 1959 grand prize at the Cannes Film Festival, is now showing.

This is a variation of the old legend of Orpheus and Eurydice, transplanted to Rio de Janeiro and with an all-Negro cast headed by Breno Mello and Merpassa Dawn.

Miss Dawn plays a country girl visiting Rio at carnival time who falls violently in love. She is pursued by the costumed figure of Death and, fleeing, is killed. Her lover follows her in death.

Co-featured is "Mouse on the Moon."

MOTOR MOVIES

Romance and big game provide two kinds of action in "Rampage," which moves to the Motor Movies on Sunday.

Robert Mitchum and Jack Hawkins play big game hunters. Mitchum is commissioned by a German zoo to capture a legendary animal—half tiger, half leopard, in the Malayan rain forests.

Elsa Martinelli, a delectable dish who has been Hawkin's mistress for years, goes along and becomes enamored of Mitchum—which provides some additional fireworks.

NOVATO THEATER

A powerful double bill opens Sunday:

"Birdman of Alcatraz" is the absorbing true story of Robert Stroud, who has spent 53 of his 72 years in federal prisons.

Burt Lancaster delivers an absorbing, thought - provoking performance as the man who entered prison as a defiant killer and over the years softens into an authority on birds and bird diseases.

Co-featured is "Toys in the Attic," Lillian Hellman's story of the strange attachment between a man and his two spinster sisters. Starred are Dean Martin, Geraldine Page and Wendy Hiller, with less dominant roles by Yvette Mimieux and Gene Tierney.

101 DRIVE-IN

Walt Disney depicts the dramatic wartime rescue of the famed Lipizanner horses in "Miracle of the White Stallions," with Robert Taylor, Lilli Palmer and Curt Jergens.

The setting is in the latter days of World War II, with Taylor playing director of the Spanish Riding School in Vienna. With the help of a sympathetic Nazi general, he smuggles his stallions out of Vienna. He then recovers his mares with the help of America's Gen. George S. Patton and "Operation Cowboy."

SEQUOIA THEATER

Moving in Sunday is "55 Days at Peking," a spectacular look at the historic seige of Peking during the Boxer Rebellion of 1900.

The Boxers were determined to drive foreigners out of China, and are supported by the Dowager Empress, Flora Robson. They lay seige to 11 legations concentrated in Peking's International Settlement.

Under command of a Marine major, Charlton Heston, and a Briton, David Niven, the 400 European troops hold off the attackers until arrival of an international army from the coast.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

"Auntie Mame," being revived briefly, is a refreshing comedy: no teen - age werewolves, no crime-ridden communities.

Instead, it's better than two hours (in color and Technirama) of Rosalind Russell and some very zany characters having a ball.

Auntie Mame is a frivolous salon-keeper who must suddenly take on the problem of raising an impressionable young nephew. How she does it makes fine comedy.

FAIRFAX THEATER

Holding over are "The Balcony" and "Loneliness of the Long Distance Runner."

The latter is a gripping story of a young rebel, a slum youth whose defiance of society does not stop when he is sent to a reformatory. Michael Redgrave, the warden, tries to make him into an athlete, but the youth resists.

"The Balcony" is most unusual, screen version of Jean Genet's satire on sin. Placed in a brothel, it depicts a world of illusion which suddenly becomes confused with reality.

Shelley Winters, Peter Falk, Lee Grant and Ruby Dee have major roles in this shocking, disturbing film for adults.

Upholsterers Find Treasure

MIAMI (AP)—Finding hidden treasure is part of the job for upholsterers.

Hy Katz, a veteran in the business, tells of a woman who used a sofa for a bank and called in great distress after her husband unexpectedly sent it out for renovation. Katz found $299 in the sofa's crevices.

Another upholsterer, Leonard Caplin, got a $100 tip for finding a long-lost diamond ring. His company at one time found money so frequently that it printed envelopes for returning it. They said: "We found this in your furniture—hope you spend it well."

The new rooms are named for Frederick W. Dohrmann Jr., Mrs. Cosgrove's father, who died in 1936. He was president of San Francisco's Nathan Dohrmann Co., in Los Angeles and San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. Cosgrove are Stanford graduates.

Interviews Slated On City Manager

Preliminary interviews with candidates for city manager of Mill Valley will begin tomorrow morning, Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks said today.

Sheeks said the city council is getting in touch with 15 to 20 possible candidates whose names were provided by the League of California Cities. As they indicate interest, interviews are being set up to be held in the city hall.

"Our purpose is to acquaint candidates with the city and with the job and to give us a chance to acquaint ourselves with them," he said. Interviews are also being set for next Thursday and possibly next Saturday.

Sheeks said all members of the council who can attend expect to be at Saturday's meeting. After preliminary interviews, the council expects to narrow the field to about six and then give those persons extensive interviews. The council is also advertising for a city manager in the Western City Magazine.

City Mgr. A. E. Almcrants resigned Monday and the council accepted his resignation by a 4-1 vote, Councilman Michael Wornum dissenting. The resignation is effective "not before Dec. 31."

Tennis Rules Due In Corte Madera

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission yesterday night decided to recommend rules for the town tennis courts be patterned after those of Mill Valley.

A report by commissioner Mrs. Alfred Kraeger following a tour of the town park was accepted. The commission recommended giving some of the surplus trees from the town nursery to Louis Womack and James Anderson, who live at Pixley Avenue and Redwood, provided they agree to maintain them. Both agreed.

Mrs. Elizabeth Long resigned as secretary, because of press of her work as secretary to the planning commission, board of adjustments, board of design and building department.

National Guard Going Weekend

Marin's National Guard unit at the Civic Center, Company E of the 579th Engineers, will do away with its Thursday night drills and drill on weekends hereafter.

Capt. Don Brittsan, commanding officer, announced that last night's drill was the last Thursday drill.

"Starting in November the unit will be drilling only on weekends," said Brittsan. "It is hoped that this change will increase the effectiveness of the unit and allow more time for engineer work projects for nonprofit organizations in the county."

'59er Thinks Life Is Grand In Alaska

DETROIT (AP)—"Walking up to a side of moose is a jolt for the woman who has always been handed a small package of meat," says a former Detroit housewife who moved to Alaska with "the 59ers."

But Mrs. Gerald Donaldson has no regrets that her family joined in a caravan of 30 Detroiters who set out in March, 1959, to homestead in the 49th state.

"I just wish I had gone 25 years sooner," she said during a visit here.

Mrs. Donaldson said 26 of the caravan members have stayed in Alaska—and almost have reached their first goal—winning title to their land.

This required clearing and seeding 20 acres and building a cabin.

"Anyone entering the valley today wouldn't recognize it as the same place we found in April, 1959," Mrs. Donaldson said.

A Greek seismologist, Angelos G. Galanopoulos, has theorized that Atlantis stood in the Seea of Crete and that its remains are the present islands of Sanitorin, Thirasia and Kameni.

Stripped Auto Found On Fire

A 1950 sedan, which had been stripped, was found on fire yesterday about 50 yards from Lucas Valley Road about five miles west of Highway 101.

Donald Fleischer, 12 Una Way, Mill Valley, called firemen after he saw the flames in a creekbed while driving by shortly after midnight. Firemen from the Marin County Fire Department put out the blaze, which gutted the car.

Deputy Sheriff Ernest Nielsen said the front wheels of the car were missing, and he could find no tire tracks to the location, indicating the car may have been there several days.

Douglas Denies Stay For Quentin Murderer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court refused yesterday to stay the execution of Lawrence Akin Jackson, who is scheduled to die in San Quentin Prison in California next Wednesday.

Douglas denied a stay after consultation with other members of the Supreme Court.

Jackson, 33, was convicted for the rape-murder of Doris Keyes. She was killed less than five days after Jackson was released on parole after serving four and one-half years for another attack on a woman. The death sentence was imposed in Riverdale County Superior Court on March 16, 1962.

The condemned man asked a stay while he appealed decisions of California state courts that denied him a writ of habeas corpus. He said he wanted a reduction of the death sentence to life imprisonment.

His stay request said his conduct was uncontrollable and that the death penalty would have a "predominately retributive purpose and would not conform to the limits of punishment laid down by contemporary civilized standards."
